Canvassing Board Found Errors

. . . All Were Minor, Miss Evans Testifies At Vote Challenge Hearing

By Don Walton

The Lancaster County canvassing board found errors in the gubernatorial tabulations of 7 of the county's 140 precincts, Election Commissioner Anna Evans testified at election contest hearings Monday.

All errors were "minor," Miss Evans said under questioning by Democratic attorney Joseph Ginsburg of Lincoln, representing contestee Ralph Brooks.

They involved "about 13 votes" in the gubernatorial race, Miss Evans said, and a writing error of 72 additional votes.

Vote tabulations in all races of another precinct indicated "irregularities," she testified.

Miss Evans told the hearing that in some cases the tally showed errors in favor of Brooks and in others errors favoring Anderson. Among precincts she cited were 3 in which both candidates lost an equal number of votes, one in which Anderson gained one vote and one in which Anderson lost 5 by the final tally.

Miss Evans was the first of 5 female witnesses to appear before the hearings at which the contest of election of Democrat Richard Larsen of Omaha as state treasurer was officially withdrawn.

Attorneys Spar

With the taking of depositions thereupon limited to testimony concerning the gubernatorial victory of Brooks over Gov. Victor Anderson, a battery of Democratic attorneys sparred with contestor attorney Robert Nelson of Lincoln in a dull, day-long session.

The 4 witnesses who followed Miss Evans on the stand—a collection of Lancaster County precinct judges and clerks—related vote counting practices which often reflected little checking on the original tabulation.

However, under questioning by Ginsburg, all said recounts were taken when differences in totals were found and all testified they had no knowledge of error in counting that was not corrected.

Each then agreed with Nelson that the only manner in which the count could be determined to be accurate would be to open ballot boxes and pursue a recount.

'Wild Hope'

To this, Democratic attorney Hugh Boyle of Omaha again charged Republican contestors with seeking a recount "only in the wild hope" that Anderson would be found to be the winner.

Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle of Omaha, brother of Hugh, told The Star following the day's testimony that "it is clear now from the witnesses who have appeared that any claim to counting irregularities does not even rise to the dignity of mere suspicion.

"The witnesses thus far have established that when any counting board was in question as to error, it went to work counting ballots again to ascertain accuracy."

Nelson said his witnesses' testimony Monday pointed up the fact that election officials cannot correct errors in the actual count and that opening the ballot boxes is the only means to accuracy.

The 4 county precinct workers said election inspectors were not in attendance all the time the polls were open. By law, they need not be.

'No One Dishonest'

Mrs. Dorothy Russell of 1990 C said she "didn't think anyone was dishonest" but that "I know of hectic situations in counting."

Miss Evans testified that "numerous irregularities" were reported to her by election inspectors.

She said there is no way of knowing what errors might have been made by the precinct counting boards in tallying votes originally and in making the tally marks which the county canvassing board subsequently counted.

Democratic attorney Joseph Votava of Omaha moved for the record that the entire contest be dismissed on grounds that withdrawal of the treasurer's contest has nullified the contestor's $20,000 bond.

GOP Contestor Joseph Wishart of Lincoln did not attend Monday's hearings. Testimony resumes Tuesday at 10 a.m.

Curb Brush Blaze

38,000 Acres In California Seared

WORST OF 1958

San Juan Capistrano, Calif. (AP)—Firemen battled in 3 counties Monday night in a desperate try to curb California's worst brush fire of the year. It has already scorched 38,000 acres.

Another onslaught of fierce desert winds—like the ones in which sent the blaze rampaging the previous day—are expected on Wednesday.

Diminishing winds are predicted Tuesday. Firemen are fighting to gain control of the fire before the winds strike again. "We're throwing everything we've got into it," said one fire official.

A small army of fire fighters slowed the blaze Monday on two fronts—near heavily populated Trabuco Canyon and near San Juan Capistrano, 5 miles away.

Near Pendleton

The worst menace Monday night was to the south, in steep, brush-covered hills at the north end of Camp Pendleton, a U.S. Marine Corps reservation. Theere are no homes in the area.

The fire started in Riverside County, then spread west into Orange and South to San Diego County. It destroyed 18 homes, most of them weekend cabins and ranches.

Firemen now have about half the fire's 70-mile perimeter controlled.

Elmer Osterman, state forest service co-ordinator, said the blaze was the worst since 18,500 acres were burned at Malibu earlier this month.

On the fire line were 1,100 men, including volunteers from two nearby Marine corps bases. Osterman said they were having a difficult time battling the fire, especially in the rugged, gusty higher elevations.

Eight planes had a tough job, too, trying to bomb the blaze with a borate solution.

Ag Hall Honors C. Y. Thompson

. . . 'Few Men Have Done As Much'

C. Y. "Cy" Thompson of West Point was honored here Monday night as a "fine gentleman of good humor, great faith, immense vision, deep humility and for whom integrity is not a word but a way of everyday life."

The pioneer in Nebraska agricultural circles was name honoree of the year by the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural Achievement at its annual meeting.

"Few men have done as much for Nebraska agriculture as Thompson," said Dean W. V. Lambert of the College of Agriculture.

New Practices

"He has pioneered in bringing new practices into use on the farms of the state; he has been a leader in the development of many important agricultural organizations and he has been a staunch advocate of farming as a way of life.

"His services, however, go much beyond building a better agriculture," Dean Lambert asserted. "Few men have done more toward the support of higher education and in building the University of Nebraska.

"This coming January he will retire as president of the Board of Regents after having served on the board for 24 years. Throughout this long period of unselfish service he has been a constructive leader in helping build a well balanced institution.

'Better Place'

"Thompson has been motivated by a desire to make Nebraska a better place in which to live. He has not let his associations with the leaders of our state affect his ego or cause him to deviate from his worthy goal.

"He is as common as 'an old shoe,' understanding and considerate, full of imagination and good humor, and chuck full of common sense. In few men do you find all of these and other good characteristics wrapped up so neatly as they are in 'Cy.'

"Thompson stands for something, something positive. Nobody has ever had to guess where he stood on any issue of consequence. His position is always that of the forward look, the one from which an advance, not a retreat, can be made."

That characteristic was evident from the very beginning as his family moved to Nebraska from Pennsylvania when "Cy" was six months of age. Born to a family of doctors, he first started out as a musician organizing the West Point Juvenile Cornet Band. In 1895 he was termed the 'hottest thing on a wheel' when riding a bicycle, and was tempted to become a professional bicycle racer.

After obtaining a law degree from the University in 1897, he decided the profession was not for him and switched to farming.

"That was a mature decision to take up farming," said W. W. Burr, dean emeritus of the College of Agriculture, who also spoke in behalf of Thompson.

New Developments

Completing a short course at the College of Agriculture in 1899, Thompson proceeded to 'shock' the people of Cuming county by planting alfalfa and sweet clover. Next he purchased the first riding lister, a mechanical elevator for corn, a tractor and the first farm telephone in the county.

Once he commanded a few listeners, Thompson's organizing ability sprouted. He helped establish the Cuming County Farm Institute to bring agricultural Extension workers to the area. Later he helped incorporate the West Point Community Club which inaugurated the Cuming County Fair and later proved to be an important force in bringing rural electrification to the district.

Thompson helped found the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, serving as president for 11 years, and the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association, serving as president in the drought years of 1932-36. He was president of the Nebraska Highway Users Association at a time when that organization was working to get farmers out of the mud.

'Greater Effort'

"But 'Cy' has not allowed his consuming interest in Nebraska agriculture to black out the fact that the agriculture effort, in the final analysis, is a part of an even greater effort, the effort to make Nebraska a better place in which to live," said Dean Lambert.

"In his Nebraska Farmer column, 'C. Y. Says,' which has appeared since 1912, he has not only discussed farm problems, policies and methods but he also has expounded a philosophy for better living."

"To C. Y., education is a personal thing," said Dean Lambert. "His is a refreshing approach in these days when so many forces are at work which tend to institutionalize rather than personalize education."

Vic, Brooks Differ At Budget Hearing

Discuss Whether Normal Schools Should Match Church College Pay

By Betty Person

Divergent views on what role church colleges should play in Nebraska's higher education field were expressed Monday by Gov. Victor Anderson and Gov.-elect Ralph Brooks at a budget hearing on the state's 4 Normal Schools.

The opposing views came after Normal Board President Bernard Spencer and the college presidents said a major portion of the $6.6 million sought in tax funds would go to higher salaries.

Spencer said an 11-state survey of 39 colleges showed Nebraska's normal college salaries were among the lowest on the list and Gov. Anderson asked if denominational colleges in Nebraska were incuded in the survey.

Spencer said they had not been able to do so and Anderson suggested it would be well to study denominational salaries as well.

'Same Level'

"We have to try to keep some level with those schools rather than out-of-state schools," Anderson continued, "because the load to the taxpayer would be tremendous if the state had to take over the teaching load of denominational colleges."

Gov. Anderson said he favored salary increases for Normal school faculties, but added that "tax-supported schools cannot be way out of line and expect the denominational schools to continue to exist."

Brooks then entered the question with the statement that denominational colleges exist because of their great diversity. "They can give to the people the things they would never get in other colleges," he continued, "because of the division between church and state."

"As long as we have churches, we'll have these schools," Brooks continued. He added that such colleges as Concordia at Seward, and Luther College at Wahoo are "nationally-supported institutions" which do not depend upon Nebraska for student enrollment or financing.

Brooks contended the church colleges are "burgeoning with enrollments and endowment which we can never hope to have."

'Modest Increases'

Dr. Neal Goman, Peru College president, told of the school's need for "modest increases in the salaries of the present staff," and pointed to the school's 12% increase in enrollment this year as evidence of the college's "satisfactory growth."

Dr. Herbert Cushing, Kearney College president, told of that school's need for a site to develop a housing project for married students, better laboratory facilities, resurfacing of driving areas and parking lots, replacement of sewer lines, and an addition to the home management house.

He also said the college would like $50,000 to provide for a microwave connection with the local TV station to "better serve the people of the Kearney area" with instructional classes.

Gov. Anderson questioned whether the college should enter television training, stating he believed it would be better to have a "first class educational facility for what we have, then go into additional work."

Need More Faculty

Dr. Barton Kline said Chadron College needed additional faculty members to take care of the enrollment growth which has gone from 327 in 1953 to 717 in 1958.

The college also needs higher salaries to keep its present staff, and more science equipment, he said.

Dr. William Brandenburg, president of Wayne College, said that college has "placed a higher premium on retention of our present staff," but has included an additional 7 staff members in its next budget.

Spencer said enrollment at all 4 colleges has increased 500 in the past two years and now stands at 3,846, and is expected to jump another 800 in the next two years.

KEEP FINGERS CROSSED—IT'S TO BE 'WARM'

A second day of "balmy" temperatures with highs in the 40s can be expected by Nebraskans Tuesday as the sub-freezing high readings of the past weeks were again absent from forecasts.

Monday's sunny skies warmed the state up considerably bringing a state high reading of 44 at Lincoln and North Platte.

No precipitation was seen for Tuesday by weathermen who attributed the warming trend to a high pressure system in the west which is acting as a buffer to keep cold northern air from moving down into the state.

Lincoln recorded a low of 4 early Monday before the temperature climbed to a high of 44.

Boy, 16, Admits Murdering Five

Mother, Four Children Slain After Youth 'Just Flipped'

El Cajon, Calif. (AP)—A youth Monday night admitted killing a mother and her 4 children after he went berserk over the noise the children were making, police said.

"I just flipped," said 16-year-old Carl A. Eder.

Eder was arrested Monday night at Mission Beach near San Diego by an off-duty policeman and a lifeguard.

The youth had been the object of a widespread search since the bodies of Mrs. Lois Pendergast, 37, and her children, David, 9, Tom, 6, Diane, 4, and Ellen, 2, were found in their home Friday. Mrs. Pendergast had been shot, the children stabbed.

Detective Charles Van Natter said Eder gave this account:

Eder became irritated because Diane was jumping up and down and yelling. He asked her to stop, she wouldn't and he threw her to the floor, cutting her head.

'Had to Happen'

Mrs. Pendergast became angry and told Eder to call a doctor.

"I knew something had to happen," Eder was quoted as saying.

He went to the garage, got a .38-caliber pistol, loaded it and returned to the kitchen.

When Mrs. Pendergast entered she saw the gun and screamed:

"Oh, what are you going to do with that gun?"

Eder started pulling the trigger and Mrs. Pendergast slumped to the floor. Eder shot her through the temple.

Diane began screaming and Eder went to his suitcase, got a hunting knife, seized the child and cut her throat.

Another child, Allen, came into the bathroom and was stabbed.

Covered Bodies

Eder said he covered the 3 bodies with a bedspread.

The two older boys, David and Tom came home from school shortly after and David asked:

"Where's Mommy?"

"She and the kids are gone," replied Eder.

David went into the bathroom and saw the blood and screamed.

Eder grabbed his knife again. He killed David in the front bedroom and Tom in the garage.

Later, the husband and father, Thomas Pendergast, an aircraft worker, came home from work. Eder forced him at gunpoint to drive into town. He said he told him he had a policeman tied up in the house. Eder later fled into the night after forcing Pendergast to change clothes with him.

Rountree Stoned In Baghdad

Violence Greets Dulles' Aide

Baghdad (AP) — A brief shower of mudballs and eggs and a sizable rock hurled from howling mobs of young Iraqis greeted Assistant Secretary of State William Rountree Monday. None of the missiles hit him.

"Go home, Rountree," the mobs chorused.

He arrived by air in late afternoon on his fact-finding Mideast mission and landed in a tight screen of military security provided by the Iraqi government.

The mudballs splattered the side of the embassy limousine on the ride in to the embassy from the airport.

At one point Rountree's car was also hit by a rock. It cracked but did not break the left side windshield just in front of the driver's seat.

'Go Home'

At the airport and in front of the embassy crowds of young men kept up the chorused shouts, "Go home, Rountree!"

They carried and waved banners with similar slogans in English. But nothing serious happened at the airfield arrival, mostly thanks to a deft maneuver by the Iraqi military guards. While the crowd surged forward to the main entrance, Rountree's car was whisked away through a far-side gateway.

Long before Rountree's Iraqi Airways Viscount plane from Cairo touched down, the area fronting the airport terminal and roads leading to the airport were lined with several thousand persons — mostly young men, many obviously of student age.

They waved or held aloft banners.

The crowd across the road in front of the airport terminal was particularly dense. It was also in an ugly mood, bursting with wild-eyed excitement from the moment the Viscount could be seen and heard in the lowering grey clouds.

7 Killed As Plane Crashes

North Smithfield, R. I. (AP)—Seven men—including 5 executives of Johnson & Johnson Co., New Brunswick, N.J.—were killed Monday when their company-owned, twin-engine Lockheed plane plowed into a woodland swamp during a driving snowstorm.

The victims included the pilot and co-pilot who were flying the craft from Linden, N.J. to Boston. The businessmen were enroute to the Gloucester, Mass., firm of LePage's, a manufacturing division of Johnson & Johnson.

The control tower at Boston's Logan International Airport last heard from the plane as it flew over Franklin, Mass., about 25 miles south of Boston. Franklin is about 5 miles from North Smithfield.

Engine Dead

The pilot, Alexander Sable, of Metuchen, N.J., reported one engine was dead. A search was begun a half hour later when the plane did not reach Logan.

Sable may have decided to try to land at the North Central Airport in Smithfield. It is only two miles from the crash scene.

Full-Time Post For Prosecutor Studied

. . . Council Considering Mayor's Proposal

By Virgil Falloon

Mayor Bennett Martin's sugegstion that the job of city prosecutor be put on a full-time basis was taken under consideration by the City Council Monday.

"Definite thought should be given for a full-time prosecutor," Martin told Council members in an informal discussion with City Atty. Ralph Nelson.

Nelson quoted City Prosecutor Thomas Gorham as saying the city case load "is coming" to a full-time job.

Even if the prosecutor's job is made full time, Nelson said, the assistant prosecutor position (also part-time) should be retained "to fill the gap" in Municipal Court during District Court jury sessions and to handle plumbing, housing, and other complaints.

Discussion also pointed out the increasing work load and the time necessary for proper preparation of drunken driving and other cases for trial.

Last week, Gorham had charged District Court juries were failing to convict in drunken driving cases regardless of the evidence presented.

'Mockery'

It's making a "mockery" of law enforcement, Gorham had charged.

Earlier Monday Mayor Martin met in a closed-door session with Safety-Welfare Director Emmett Junge, Nelson and Gorham to discuss the situation.

In connection with the reported success of state drunken driving cases, city officials pointed out that the county prosecutor is employed full-time, the average experience of the Safety Patrol is far greater than that of Lincoln Police Department, and that the county has fewer cases to prosecute.

★ ★ ★ ★

2 More Drunk Driving Complaints Are Reduced

Two more drunken driving complaints were reduced Monday by City Prosecutor Thomas Gorham to reckless driving charges.

Jess L. Ethington, 64, of 3070 Vine, and Raymond W. LePoir, 48, of 1120 H, both pleaded guilty to the reduced charges and were fined $100 each. Both had been convicted of drunken driving charges in Municipal Court but had appealed.

Gorham has said he will reduce 17 drunken driving charges to lesser traffic offenses following continued acquittals in city cases in which the defendants are charged with drunken driving.

The county continued to have better luck with its drunken driving prosecutions Monday, when Burdette A. Jordan, 52, of 3672 Vine, was found guilty of that charge by a jury. Jordan had pleaded innocent after also appealing a Municipal Court conviction.

As his arrest was by the Safety Patrol and not the Lincoln Police Dept., however, the case was prosecuted by Dep. Co. Atty. Paul Douglas. Douglas has not lost a drunken driving case before a jury in more than two years.

In another state traffic case, Ben Magnuson of 1201 West O pleaded guilty to speeding 65 mph in 40 mph zone and was fined $50 by Judge Harry A. Spencer. Magnuson had appealed a Municipal Court conviction on the same charge, but had been fined $85 in the lower court.

New Look

New Iberia, La. (UPI)— The lunch menus for schoolchildren at New Iberia Parish will take on a "new look" this week.

Miss Barbara Porter, supervisor of the parish lunch program, said state game agents had turned over 8,000 pounds of illegal, undersized shrimp—valued at more than $1,200—to the schools.

Shots-Upon-Release Dog Law Introduced

A substitute dog ordinance providing for compulsory rabies vaccination of impounded dogs only before release was introduced Monday before the City Council.

Indefinitely postponed was a controversial measure that would have required compulsory shots for all dogs before licensing as proposed by the City-County Health Dept.

Both the Lancaster County Humane Society and the Cornhusker Kennel Club has endorsed the substitute ordinance.

Another Dog Catcher

A Humane Society proposal to acquire an additional truck and employe "to pick up stray and unlicensed dogs as a law enforcement measure" was endorsed informally by the Council.

Anticipated increased revenue from license fees is expected to finance the additional equipment, but the Council indicated operational costs would be underwritten by the city, if necessary.

Lincoln has 6,000 licensed dogs, but unofficial figures have indicated the city may have as many as 18,000 dogs.

Humane Society officials indicated the extra man and truck could be acquired in February for the "strict enforcement" programs urged by the Council.

The substitute dog ordinance makes no change in present license fees of $3 for males spays and $5 for females, but extends the licensing age to 6 months from the present 3 months.

Other provisions make the teasing or agitating of a dog while on a leash a misdemeanor violation.

Public hearing on the new ordinance is scheduled for Dec. 29 on 3rd reading.

Other Council action on ordinances:

Passed, 3rd Reading

—Two-family residential zoning for 1240 No. 66th (southeast corner of 66th and Dudley) as requested by Elmer A. Yates.

—Water District 490 being Dudley from 63rd to 64th.

Introduced, 1st Reading (Public Hearing on Dec. 29)

—Highway commercial zoning change for property fronting on Cornhusker Highway between Milton and Helen streets.

—Local business zoning for two lots on the northwest corner of 55th and South.

All Council members were present for the regular meeting except Pat Ash who was excused. No morning session was held.

Dixon Services To Be Tuesday

Bodies Of Four Found; Victims Of Old Gas Range

Yonkers, N.Y. (AP)—The bodies of 4 persons—a young couple, their baby son, and an 11-year-old girl — were found in a Yonkers apartment with gas spewing from an antiquated gas range.

Police said the 4 apparently had turned on the old range to supplement the heat from a radiator. All were clad in bed clothes.

The dead were identified as James Neider Jr., 27, his wife, Daisy, 18, their son, James Walter Neider, 4 months old, and Judy Sutliss, 11, Mrs. Neider's sister who was visiting the Neiders.

The bodies were found by police after Neider's father James Neider Sr., reported he had found the front door locked with the lights inside on, the television blaring, and letters in the mail box.

Police said all apparently had been dead more than 24 hours. Westchester County Medical Examiner Dr. Victoria Bradess said all 4 died accidentally of asphyxiation due to carbon monoxide fumes from the range.

Magazine Official Meets Carriers

'Future Looks Brighter For Business'—Motley

Arthur Motley, president of Parade Magazine, told a Lincoln business audience that quick recovery from the 1958 recession was a testimonial to a national business community which used a slow period to revitalize and improve its services.

The New York executive advised looking back on 1958 mainly with satisfaction over a rapid business recovery, and forward to a future of brighter prospects as a net result.

Motley was the principal speaker at a luncheon at the Cornhusker at which upward of 330 Lincoln business and professional figures honored Wayne Howlett, 16, of Dorchester, and Gayle McAdams, 14, of Lincoln, winners of The Sunday Journal and Star best carrier awards.

Winners in a field of 1,192 carriers for the Lincoln Star, The Lincoln Journal and The Sunday Journal and Star Howlett and McAdams will enjoy a 5-day trip to Hawaii under the sponsorship of the Sunday Journal and Star and Parade Magazine.

'Create Wants'

"Nothing happens until somebody sells something," asserted Motley, adding that it is the business of business to create wants and to provide for them effectively.

"The businesses which sharpened their selling efforts suffered no ill effects during the 1958 slump," Motley said.

He praised Lincoln business, but advised continuing self-examination in view of "doing the best possible job."

'Greatest Medium'

Motley described newspapers as the greatest of communications media because "they contain the most news, give the greatest reader satisfaction and play a strong role in stimulating business through widely read avertising.

"Let us not forget," he said, "that business is a profession and that through its efficiency and vigor comes all the tax money and private contributions that build schools, churches, hospitals, and communities. It is a higher business velocity that will make possible the proffered Kellogg Center for Continuing Education."

Selection of the two outstanding carriers was described as a difficult decision in a field marked by efficient service.

High Grades

Gayle McAdams, Lincoln winner, is a ninth grade student at Lincoln Southeast high. He has an academic average between 85 and 90 and besides his work as newspaper carrier he is active in scouting, band, Youth Fellowship and plays softball and basketball.

Wayne Howlett, a carrier since 1952, is a junior in Dorchester high school with a 95.6 academic average. He has lettered in three sports, plays in the school band and is a school news reporter. In addition to that he plays Junior Legion Baseball and participates in school dramatics.

The boys will leave for Honolulu December 26, with stopovers in Los Angeles to visdit Disneyland, and in San Francisco on their return.

Wayne's mother, Mrs. Fred Howlett, and Gayle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McAdams of 6845 South, were special guests at the honors luncheon.

Police Hunting Purse Snatcher

Police were searching late Monday night for a "short, heavy" young man who snatched a purse from the arm of a middle-aged woman on 13th between J and H.

The bandit netted about $17, they said. The woman, only witness to the crime, described the purse snatcher as short, heavy, between 18 and 21 years of age and wearing a dark cap and jacket.

4 District Court Judges Assigned

The assignment of the 4 Lancaster District Court judges for next year were announced Monday.

Judge Paul White will be assignment judge and will hear criminal cases. Hearing law cases will be Judges Harry Spencer and John Polk.

Judge Harry Ankeny will hear equity cases and will preside over the Juvenile Court.

Ordinance For Joint City-County Planning Board Is Introduced

By Virgil Falloon

An ordinance for establishment of a City-County Planning and Zoning Commission was introduced Monday before the City Council.

It would permit the city and county to jointly use the advisory and planning services of the 9-member commission and its staff under a working and financial agreement to be worked out between the City Council and County Board.

The proposed merger has been endorsed by the County Board and by the City Planning Commission and details of the proposed ordinance were worked out by a joint city and county committee.

Selected By Council

Present membership of the City Planning Commission would be affirmed to the City-County Planning Commission and future vacancies would be filled by the Council with the concurrance of the County Board under the proposed plan.

Robert Guenzel, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee which spearheaded the proposed merger, hailed the joint planning commission as a forward step in city and county governmental cooperation.

Under the proposed measure, the City-Council Planning Commission would have advisory jurisdiction in both the city and county, but would make its services and recommendations on planning and zoning matters to the governing body responsible — the City Council or the County Board.

A financial agreement will be worked out between the county and city to share the administrative and operational costs of the joint commission, officials said.

At present, the City-County Health Department is jointly operated and maintained by the city and county under a similar working agreement.

The city appropriated a 1958-59 budget of $28,478 in anticipation of the possible merger. Approximately $3,000 represented additional costs for a joint commission with expanded jurisdiction.

Advantages

Proponents of the joint planning commission see these advantages:

—A better coordination of planning and zoning between the city and county.

—A reduction in individual costs to the city and county through a single planning agency.

—Furtherance of governmental efficiency through merged or joint city and county functions where possible.

Public hearing on the proposed City-County Planning Commission measure is scheduled for Dec. 29.

Joint Building Authority To Be Continued

The life of the City-County Building Authority was extended for 6 years until Dec. 31, 1964, by the City Council in a resolution adopted Monday.

The County Board is expected to adopt the joint resolution in similar action at its regular meeting Tuesday.

The Authority was due to expire this Dec. 31 unless extended.

Its 5 members requested the extension because:

—The need for a city-county building is "rapidly becoming more acute."

—There would be a considerable loss of valuable time and effort, and also money, in future planning and development of a joint building if the Authority were not continued.

Authority members are C. C. Kimball, chairman, C. W. D. Kinsey, Ray Osborn, Chauncey Barney and Guy Chambers.

Council Plans To Review Amendments

The proposed 34 City Charter amendments will be reviewed Wednesday afternoon by the City Council for possible endorsement.

At a public hearing last week, the Charter Revision Committee urged that any amendment submitted to the voters at a special election carry the Council's endorsement.

The Council indicated a joint meeting with the charter committee probably may be held next week after the preliminary review work.

The committee has pending a number of changes suggested at the public hearing, but has requested a joint meeting with the Council.

The Council has taken no action on a special election, but Feb. 10 has been suggested as a target date.

Farmers Vote Controls On Rice, Cotton Tobacco In Exchange For Supports

Washington (UPI) — Farmers voted overwhelmingly t continue marketing controls on rice, cotton and tobacco in exchange for relatively high price supports, the Agriculture Department reported.

All returns were not in, but department spokesmen said there was little chance that the remaining votes to be counted could upset the trend.

The farmers voted to continue the controls on cotton, extra long staple cotton, rice and flue-cured tobacco.

The uncompleted returns were: cotton — 17 of 21 states reporting — 183,734 in favoring of controls, 11,214 against. Extra long staple cotton — 5 of 7 states reporting —775 for, 102 against. Rice — 9 of 12 states reporting — 4,601 for, 237 against. Tobacco — 5 of 6 states reporting — 166,840 for, 7,964 against.

Fall Level

Under the continued controls on rice and cotton, farmers who comply with acreage allotments will be eligible for price supports at the full level set for each commodity.

The tobacco farmers voted whether to accept controls on the 1959, 1960 and 1961 crops. Since controls were approved, tobacco produced in excess of acreage allotments now will be subject to a penalty of 75% of the average price for the previous marketing year.

Tobacco, by law, is supported at 90% of parity for those who comply with allotments.

Two Choices

Approval of the cotton quotas mean cotton farmers will be given two choices on how they shall be applied.

A farmer may elect to grow his crop in compliance with his regular acreage allotment and be eligible for price supports of not less than 80% of parity; or he may increase his cotton acreage by not more than 40% over his regular allotment.

If the latter choice is made the crop would be eligible for price support at 15 percentage points below the level provided under the first program, but not less than 65% of parity.

Death Scene At Intersection Crash

A 21-year-old Lincolnite, Stuart Stronberg of 2440 So. 16th, was killed Monday afternoon at 26th and P when his car (at right) was in collision with a car (upper left) driven by Norman Rose of 2344 Vine. Stronberg was thrown from his car by the impact and his head struck the curb about where the policeman at left (with white crash helmet) is standing. (Star Photo)

Man, 21, Killed—Thrown From Car At 26th & P

Stuart W. Stronberg of 2440 So. 16th was killed Monday afternoon in a two-car accident at 26th and P.

The 21-year-old man, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Stronberg, apparently was killed instantly when he was thrown from his car and his head struck the curb. He was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Driver of the other car involved, police said. was S. Sgt. Norman Rose, 43, of 2344 Vine. He is stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base. He reportedly was not hurt

Police said Stronberg was eastbound on P and Rose was southbound on 26th when the mishap occurred. Both were alone in their cars.

The interior of Stonberg's car was not damaged, and Police Lt. Harold Piersol said it appeared that if Stronberg had been wearing a seat belt he would not have been hurt.

The left side of Stronberg's car was struck by the front end of Rose's auto.

The intersection where the accident occurred has no stop signs or other traffic control devices although it is on a temporary detour route being used while the intersection of 27th and Q is closed for sewer work.

3rd In Area

It was the third fatality accident in that area this year. Mrs. Etta Fager of 2314 Q was killed in a car-pedestrian accident July 20 at 23rd and R, and Miss Ruth Hutchins of 5203 Cleveland was killed in a two-car accident Nov. 21 at 25th and R.

Dep. Co. Atty. Paul Douglas said there would be no inquest into Stronberg's death, a failure to yield the right-of-way ticket, however, was issued to Rose by police following the accident.

Stronberg's death is the 6th on local police records in Lincoln this year and boosts the state traffic toll to 326, compared with 282 at this time last year.

Surviving besides his parents is Stronberg's brother Donald, of Lincoln. A draftsman for the State Dept. of Roads, Stronberg was a member of First Christian Church, the Air National Guard and the YMCA.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Assault, Robbery Victim Treated For Broken Ribs

Samuel Krening of 3819 A was released from a hospital Monday after treatment for rib fractures suffered early Sunday morning when he was assaulted and robbed in a downtown alley.

Police said Krening, 40, reported he was assaulted and robbed of about $35 by 3 unidentified men in the alley behind the Acme Chili Grill at 1348 O. Police said they have questioned 6 men in connection with the incident, but all appear not involved.

Escapee From Colorado Gets 5 Years Here

A Colorado State Penitentiary escapee was sentenced to 5 years in the Nebraska State Penitentiary on a burglary charge.

David F. Caron had pleaded guilty to burglarizing Millie's Cafe at 311 So. 21st Nov. 26. Caron had escaped from a work detail at the Colorado prison only a week before his arrest here.

Judge Harry A. Spencer sentenced the 38 - year - old man.

Robbery Brings Plea Of Guilty

Clifford Eugene Perry of Mason City, Ia., pleaded guilty Monday in Lancaster District Court to a robbery charge.

Judge Harry A. Spencer deferred sentencing.

Perry, 19, is charged with robbing Major Oil Service Station attendant William Wunderlich of Roca of about $188 Dec. 2 at the station south of Lincoln. Perry's companion in the crime, Jerry Stinsurd, 16, of Northwood, Ia., has pleaded guilty to a robbery charge in County Court but has not yet been arraigned in District Court.

The youths were arrested in Arizona 3 days after the robbery here and were returned to Lincoln to face charges.

Police Nab 4 Youths Carrying Knives, 'Knucks'

Four young teen-age boys found carrying weapons ranging from switch-blade knives to lead knuckles have been turned over by police to the County Juvenile Probation Office.

The youths, three 13 and one 14, were arrested by police Friday night near 32nd and A with the weapons in their possession. They said they planned to use them in a scheduled fight with other junior high boys if it became necessary.

Christmas Wish

Chicago (UPI) — Judge Joseph Hermes played Santa Claus and gave helper Hugo Kosmel, 48, charged with vagrancy, his Christmas wish—a holiday jail sentence for the third straight year.

"I like the Christmas dinner they serve at Bridewell Jail," Kosmel said. "Besides, I get a chance to take a bath."

Missourian's Crooked Dice Fine $500

Burt R. Howard, 25, of Rea, Mo., was fined $500 in Lancaster District Court on a possession of gambling fixtures charge.

Howard had earlier pleaded innocent but changed his plea to nolo contendere (no contest) and was found guilty by Judge Harry A. Spencer. He was charged in connection with hundreds of pairs of crooked dice being found in his possession by local police last March 31.

Vernon J. Sherer, 31, formerly of Rea but now living in California, pleadeded nolo contendere Dec. 5 to the same charge, and was also found guilty and fined $500. Both men were arrested in Sherer's car and the dice were found in a hidden compartment.

New Plan

Miles, Iowa (AP) — The Miles Savings Bank's yearly Christmas novelty to patrons for appreciation of past business is being discontinued.

Instead, the bank said, it will donate $1 to the church of each customer's choice.

Mrs. Crancer Rites Thursday

The funeral of former Lincolnite Mrs. Elinor Gustin Crancer will be 2 p.m. Thursday at Wadlows. Burial in Wyuka Cemetery.

Mrs. Crancer, 80, who lived in Denver 8 years, died there Saturday.

Born in Lincoln, she had attended the University of Nebraska.

Survivors include her husband, Ray; sister, Mrs. Ross Taggert of Washington, D.C.; and stepson, George E. of Lincoln.

THAT'S THE AMOUNT OF MONEY NEBRASKA TRUCKS PAID TAXES ON IN 1956
(Last year for which figures are available)

| State Highway User Taxes | $17,831,713 |
| Federal Taxes | 10,756,000 |
| TOTAL | $28,587,713 |

Frankly, the thousands of people engaged in the Trucking Industry in Nebraska get a little provoked at those who are constantly saying that trucks do not pay their way. Take a glance at the figures above and you'll know why.

Taxes from trucks constitute the biggest single taxpayer item (outside of actual federal and state money) in paying for Nebraska's road system. Ever realize that the average tax on a four-axle semi truck trailer is 45 times greater than the annual tax on an average Nebraska automobile? Well, it is . . . latest figures from the State show this to be true. The Trucking Industry in Nebraska pays a whale of a lot of taxes, and you should know it.

Is there any reason why we shouldn't be a little provoked when some folks say that "trucking is getting a free ride?"

The Little Town's Future

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It's an interesting question raised in the December publication of the University of Nebraska Department of Business Research. The question was whether small towns in Nebraska will disappear as the larger urban areas grow bigger and bigger. The conclusion seemed to be that some will disappear and some will not, which is a pretty safe conclusion.

People who don't know much about small towns have often wondered what it was that kept them going. Actually, there would not be a great deal of difference if one looked at the causes for existence of the small and large cities in Nebraska. But larger cities give an appearance of greater prosperity because of their diversity. This diversity, of course, is also a cause for greater growth. The entire process is somewhat like the old chicken and egg puzzle. Growth brings greater demand and greater demand brings more growth.

Which Came First?

In a small town, the elements of growth and demand are often so constant, however, that there is little change in the over-all economy and population from one year to the next. A small town hits an economic level commensurate with the needs of the area it serves.

It might be likened to a shopping center in a larger city. When you think of cities as large as Omaha, you begin to get into a complex picture. Lincoln has not yet reached this stage of complexity and is not likely to for a good many years.

★

But Omaha, in many respects, is nothing but a collection of small towns. There are many Omaha residents who will go months without ever seeing downtown Omaha. They live in the suburbs and all their needs and desires are met in the surburban shopping and entertainment areas.

They are a part of Omaha in name only but are a functioning part of some suburb within the over-all city limits. The small town's service area is largely agricultural. It depends to a great extent upon its surrounding farm population for support. Once a town hits around the 3,000 population mark, it begins to take on some of the aspects of a larger city.

★

Towns of 3,000 population and over are beginning to have a substantial business and industrial foundation. The activity of the area centers more and more around servicing the needs and desires of the immediate residents of the city. Farm population continues to be vital but its influence slowly declines.

But certain things are beginning to happen now that may hurry up all of this process. The farm picture is drastically changing. Both the number of farm people and the number of individual farms are on the decline. And farming is becoming more and more of a mechanized industry.

This trend cannot help but have an influence upon many small towns. Many of the small towns that have a strong enough business core will survive with the growth of industry in this part of the country. But the smaller little towns will not be this fortunate. It may take a good many years for any substantial number of these little towns to disappear but such a fate seems inevitable. The breaking point on death or survival will depend upon both population and economic base.

Many Seem Doomed

A part of what is happening is demonstrated on a statewide basis. While Nebraska continues to experience a slight growth in population, the major cities are experiencing a healthy growth. This means that the trend is toward fewer but larger centers of population and the farm picture can do nothing but stimulate this development.

The 167th Anniversary

This week the American Bill of Rights became 167 years old.

The first 10 amendments to the constitution were formally ratified December 15, 1791.

One hundred and sixty seven years is a long reach backward for a piece of major news at a time when yesterday's banner line is as dead as a nit today and when anything less than an international crisis can hardly get on page one. But the Bill of Rights has been from the start a timeless force, a veritable unfailing geyser working for national achievement and progressing human relations. It continues to be page one news. And that's the way it will be as long as there is a United States.

The Founding Fathers did not include the Bill of Rights in the original Constitution. They found it advisable to sell the Constitution to the skeptical states in its most reduced form in order to avoid rejection because of details. But once the Constitution was firmly in place the human rights provisions inevitably followed, inasmuch as the contemplation of them was dear to the heart of early America.

Succeeding events proved they contained the magic that made the United States what it is today and without them the American Republic could hardly have expected to be any more than predecessor republics such as Rome were—mainly a mechanism for expediting government for the sake of government. The Bill of Rights made a government for the sake of people. There is a vast difference between such republics.

Actually in granting such things as freedom of speech, trial by jury, freedom of religion and a maximum of individual independence the Bill of Rights put the American people out on their own — a form of eviction from both state guardianship and state servitude. It is surprising how much pioneering resulted from the do-it-yourself principles embodied in the Bill of Rights.

As abstractions in the field of civil relationships the contents of the Bill are worth all the study that have been given them. But they are also a wonderful study in the field of living fact.

Labor Movement No Joke

Plans announced by James Hoffa to draw public employes and white-collar workers into his Teamsters Union have met with little enthusiasm among Lincoln officials. But this reception among officials should not be left to draw us to the wrong conclusion. Regardless of what the officials might think, Hoffa is no doubt deadly serious about his intentions.

Most of us are very familiar with part of what has been going on in the labor movement in recent years. We are well acquainted with the Teamsters' Hoffa and we know that his union has faced many a damaging accusation in the past few months. But despite the cases that have been built up against Hoffa, he is still the head of the Teamsters and still actively pursuing his labor activities.

And while a great deal of the publicity that has been given the Teamsters and other unions has not been favorable, it has been publicity. Many people who, a few years ago, never gave a thought to unions now feel a much stronger acquaintanceship with them. They may know something of abusive uses of labor funds but they also know that union members have substantial pensions and unemployment compensation programs.

Hoffa is no babe in the woods. He knows that the workers he now seeks to gather into his fold represent the last outpost for non-unionism. And he can make a good case by showing them their financial standing as compared to that of his truck drivers, many of whom are at or near the $10,000-a-year income bracket. It all boils down to the fact that Hoffa's move should not be taken lightly, despite the expressions by officials that it will get nowhere here. This may not be the first area where government and white-collar workers will jump on the Teamsters wagon, but these people are just as human and just as interested in their welfare as are the ones in Chicago, New York or California. Union government employes could be a lot closer than you think.

Nebraska's Growing Business

Nebraska's 11-month petroleum operating statement highlights these interesting facts:

Production, the first 11 months of 1958 amounted to $50 million. Exploration for new sources required $3 million. There were 335 wildcat wells. Thirty-nine of them were producers. Oil discoveries are spreading through central and western Nebraska. Where once it was Kimball, Banner and Cheyenne counties, now two more have been added; the deep sand discoveries in Red Willow and the highly significant finds in Morrill county.

All in all the state's infant industry has grown to $100 million a year, it is estimated.

Older oil states might yawn over such figures. But they are big in Nebraska for two reasons. First the oil industry is but 10 years old. It is just beginning. Second, Nebraska was long listed as a state that had no petroleum possibilities.

Nebraska has taken its oil development without the "gold rush" atmosphere. It has not been a boom and bust cycle, but a quiet, steadily progressing development of an important resource whose final size is as yet unmeasured but which has the earmarks of becoming much bigger. The discoveries thus have been confined to regions south of the Platte. There is still much of the state yet to be probed and it is conceivable that the richest strikes are yet to come.

Hard On Texas

It has been a hard year for Texas. The only thing it won was a one point victory over the Oklahoma Sooners. But it lost its title as the largest state when Alaska got admitted to the Union. That was bearable. But the idea of partitioning Texas is spreading.

Lately the Red river changed its course and there went another square mile. Oklahoma got it for free—a pretty good consolation prize for one football point.

Dedicated Dulles Brushes Off Pain

WASHINGTON. — The NATO statesmen who sit opposite John Foster Dulles to discuss the defenses of Western Europe this week are talking to a sick but courageous man. Only his close intimates know that the secretary of state suffered great pain during his trip to Mexico, and was not entirely recovered when he got out of bed to fly to Paris.

Secretary Dulles has confided to these friends that he's quite prepared to die at his desk rather than retire. However, he is in no frame of mind to do either. Having staged an amazing recovery from a cancer operation two years ago, he has great faith in his own will to overcome any health obstacle. He is not going to retire.

In Mexico City Ambassador Robert Hill had two doctors awaiting an emergency call, but Dulles refused to see them for fear word of his illness would leak out. He lived in the American embassy residence, with Milton Eisenhower occupying a room nearby. Milton confided to friends that he worried all night about Dulles' condition.

The secretary of state is now 71 years old, has traveled more than half a million miles since he assumed office, and is entitled to rest. He told friends, however, that he would be bored stiff if he retired and will continue in harness.

☆ ☆ ☆

When Harry Truman was looking over his old haunts in Washington, the other day, he got a visit from John Steelman, onetime member of the White House staff, now publisher of three weekly newspapers in the Maryland suburbs of Washington. Steelman has completely divorced himself from government, pays a lot of attention to community affairs.

"I'm sorry I won't be able to hear you speak at the press club," he told his ex-boss, "but I have to attend a Board of Trade meeting."

"I'll miss you," said Truman. Then, as an afterthought, he added: "No, it's just as well you don't come, because I'm going to give the publishers hell and you're a publisher. I'm for the working press but not for the publishers."

One of the jurors in the trial of George A. Bright, the Atlanta architect charged with bombing the Jewish temple there, was an ex-Klansman. However, it's believed this made no difference in the final outcome—namely a hung jury, 9 to 3.

The factor which caused the hung jury was the stiff penalty, either life imprisonment or death. The alternative was acquittal. Nine jurors flatly refused to vote for acquittal.

Courtroom observers report that Bright himself was responsible for convincing these nine that he was guilty by his long rambling defense of himself in which he spouted anti-semitic sentiments, showed himself a man of violent temper and deep prejudice.

Humphrey's Rise Spice For 1960

WASHINGTON — Competition is the life of trade for professional politicians during the period preliminary to a presidential nominating convention. The pros of the Democratic party therefore welcome the advent of Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota as a serious contender for the 1960 nomination.

Senator Humphrey fills the gap left by the defeat of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and the disappointing proportions of the sixth victory achieved by Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan. The two governors already had an informal alliance whose goal was to hold the liberals together at the convention with respect both to the platform and the nominee.

Mrs. Roosevelt's praise of Senator Humphrey is a generous gesture representative of the forces friendly always to Adlai Stevenson. It is nevertheless a fact that all of Stevenson's closest associates believe that he would be warmly receptive to a draft from the convention and they naturally hope he will get it.

Humphrey's task is to make hay with the Stevenson people while Stevenson is praising him and is giving the chill to his own candidacy. The twice-defeated nominee seems to some people to be protesting too much, but Humphrey is entitled to take him at face value and will do so.

☆ ☆ ☆

Money and organization are big problems for the Minnesota fireball. Politically he is in good shape at home. The Democrat-Farmer-Labor party he helped bring back to power ten years ago has an attractive and able governor in Orville Freeman; it has just sent to Washington with Humphrey a summa cum laude graduate of the Rayburn school for senators, Rep. Eugene McCarthy.

It is a strong triumvirate for a presidential push. McCarthy, a Catholic, is also expected to carry the Humphrey message in special competition to Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who is of that faith.

But Minnesota's wealthiest citizens with important national ties are largely Republican. They will not muster for Humphrey the sinews of war and evangelical zeal that for a time did so much for Harold Stassen and would rally again to a state Republican contender.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Senator must turn to New York and California, strong bastions of the Stevenson efforts, for money and help with propaganda that will make him well and favorably known. Labor is extremely friendly to him but is not so placed it can do much at this stage, nor would it profit Humphrey to be too closely identified with labor.

Senator Kennedy is far ahead of Humphrey in the propaganda field today and probably in organization, though his associates are inclined to clam up when asked about that aspect of his campaign. But his book has gone into many editions and he and his attractive family have confronted the public from magazines not normally very kind to Democrats.

Patchwork Prairie Country

There's something extra special about the big Christmas tree that stands at the corner of main street in our town. The gay colored lights sparkle through the branches, to be reflected again in the eyes of a small child as he stands and looks upward until he finds the star at the top. It stirs that certain anticipation for the holidays in the hearts of young and old alike. Christmas is old, yet ever new.

I suppose Christmas in its most uncontrolled anticipating comes in the toy shops. Little boys can't resist turning the handle of a music box until Jack pops out with a loud thud, or squeezing the trigger of a gun. But let them get a horn and they blow until their mother gives them strict orders.

"Stop blowing that horn," she commands over the tops of her Christmas bundles.

Junior lays the horn down obediently until her back is turned. Then he picks it up again and gives it another final toot.

Little girls are different. They either push on the stomach of a doll to make it cry, or if that doesn't work they turn it over and poke it in the back. While they are punching, poking or squeezing to get sounds, the boys are blowing, turning cranks or winding something furiously.

There's so much activity, it's hardly safe for a grown-up to venture into the toy shop. The other day when I was walking along the counters trying to decide just which toy to buy, a frisky little elephant blew a flurry of bubbles into my face. As I rounded the counter, I was met by an alligator, slithering along, clapping his powerful jaws in my direction.

☆ ☆ ☆

These are the crisp, frigid days that go along with the winter season—the days we knew were coming, yet always hoped would be delayed . . .

This morning the tank heater sent up billows of smoke as it attempted to clear the tank of ice. It will now burn steadily, day in and day out, until the first, red, red robin comes bob, bob, bobbin' along . . .

Now and then I see the cattle saunter up to the block of salt, take a few licks, satisfy their thirst, then single file out into the field again. Every few days The Farmer brings them in from the field so he can count them. They are quite content to spend their days and nights out in the open unless, of course, a storm is brewing. They seem to know when there is evil in the wind and make their way toward the shelter of the barn.

☆ ☆ ☆

Sunday nights can be so few whistle that blows at ten quiet in the country that one is scarcely aware of the passage of time. There is no curfew whistle that blows at ten o'clock no clock that strikes out the hour in a big booming voice. One hour just slips by silently into another.

The Sunday paper is read and put aside to be replaced by heaping bowls of popcorn and apples. Neighbors may stop by to chat or plans for the next day are discussed . . .

There's no feeling of urgency — the old week has been put aside and the new one is waiting to be opened. The car is put into the garage as final gesture toward spending the night at home by the fireside.

True, it doesn't sound very exciting, but we like it that way.

Backward Thinkers

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Sometimes it seems that the people of Lincoln who want to dive back into the past and live happy, happy with things as they used to be are more numerous or at least more vocal than our progressive citizens.

Why in Sam Hill should we want to return to the long discredited borough system of representation on the Council? Half the corruption and bad government of American cities have come from this kind of government. Why should we go even half way back to it? What we should do is to go forward to the city manager form. That is exactly what we have in our school district and it works fine. As a matter of fact, that system is without doubt the most successful piece of government in the United States.

It seems to be there is a very active lot of our people who take delight in being darned contrary just for the heck of it. All the scientific evidence in the world and all the doctors and dentists fail to convince them we ought to have fluoridation of our drinking water. City planning has been knocked into a cocked hat and kicked around so much that city planners must be plumb discouraged.

As to urban renewal, ripe fruit and dead cats fly in the direction of anybody who even mentions it. Somebody begins to weep for the "poor little guy" that is going to be tossed out of his own happy little home to freeze and die of starvation as a result of wicked urban renewal.

Sometimes I think we have a fine city here in Lincoln largely by accident. I have lived happily in Lincoln for 40 years but I have never heard so much caterwauling on the part of people who not only don't want to have our city progress but who are determined to yank us back into the 19th Century.

Spare That Tree

Omaha, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: As a lover of Americana, I hesitate not to include the giants of our forests and vales as objects of my ardor. Those breath-taking redwoods, ponderosa pines and Engleman spruces.

The press reports another annual slaughter of a 99-footer whose summers were fourscore. We reel in despair. Why do we countenance a deification at the White House level of colossal spectacularity at the expense of priceless naturalia, and at a season that calls for heartfelt, simple, widespread communion with the rood?

With the poet, I clarion: "Woodman, spare that tree. Woodman, forbear thy stroke! Cut not its earthen ties."

We kneel with a plea that this year's felling of a companion in the forests shall be the last!

The Carnegie Course

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: When future political scientists study the political theories of the twentieth century, they will agree that "How To Win Friends and Influence People" was the greatest theory and that Dale Carnegie was the greatest theorist. His books thoroughly represent the degeneration of this period—how to make friends and influence people so as to make more money. Carnegie has convinced everyone that we must make friends only so they can pay lip service to us. Even the national government has sold itself to this concept. So far has it gone that if both it and the American public accept what is dished out by the advertising agencies, the country is not worth saving from anything or for anybody.

Friendship, St. Paul said, was love not puffed up, friendship for friendship's sake. Why is a man good? People are inclined to believe honesty is the best policy because you can make more money being honest than being dishonest, so they refrain from doing bad things. Men are good for the sake of goodness . . .

Plato said that a state should determine a life higher than that of a salesman for its leaders. But as long as leaders must appeal to the masses, they will have to do it on a low level. Could this be solved by disfranchizing large numbers of people? No, the world doesn't work much better under oligarchs than it does under the masses. As long as America is a capitalistic society, there must be such appeals.

Does this mean a condemnation of "the American way" which politicians talk of? Again, no. A change in the system would merely get the American public the kind of systematic propaganda which is in the Soviet Union.

Who can have faith in any state, democratic or communistic? By its own nature, a nation or state is organized skulduggery, a Carnegie course on a grand scale to put people in their place and make politicians and advertisers something "they ain't." But the power of the rich advertisers is far preferable to the political power of Mao Tse-tung. People can change personal and social pressures, but not political ones.

Of, By The People

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. "Another Interested Citizen" (Star, Dec. 12) is certainly to be commended for recognizing the fact that C. O. Blanchard's proposed change in election of city councilmen would bring back the principle of government of the people and by the people, instead of by a usual small district.

I do not believe you need to worry about his needing to vie for a chance as city councilman. I believe that what he has done for the rights of the voters of the city of Lincoln has well placed him in line for draft. One need not doubt as to surety of his election if he accepts the challenge to run, whether the election is by district or at leage . . .

NU Seeks 'Minimum, $26.8 Million Budget

. . . $5.8 Million Hike Mostly For Higher Salaries

By Betty Person

The $26.8 million in tax funds requested by the University of Nebraska for the next two years represents the "very minimum needed" and the bulk of the $5.8 million increase sought will go to the top priority of salary increases, Chancellor Clifford N. Hardin said Monday.

The chancellor told Gov. Victor Anderson and Gov.-elect Ralph Brooks at budget request hearings that the University's "first and foremost policy question" on the budget concerned the faculty and attempts to bring NU salaries closer to those paid in comparable institutions.

"Despite our best intentions," Hardin said, "the disparagement between salaries paid the Nebraska faculty and the faculties of comparable institutions from coast to coast has been widening. We are steadily losing the race."

Near The Bottom

Two independent studies of faculty salaries shows Nebraska's salaries are very near the bottom or very low, he said, adding that the salary increases requested "will not place us at the top of the faculty salary heap in this region," but will put NU at a "midpoint."

University Comptroller Dr. Joseph Soshnik explained most of Nebraska's full professors receive an average salary of $8,073 compared with a regional average of $9,990; that associated professors at NU receive $6,687 compared with the regional average of $7,620; assistant professors receive $5,482 compared with regional average of $6,310 and instructors at NU receive an average $4,619, as against $5,170 on a regional average.

Lion's Share

Hardin explained that "nearly all" of the University's continuation budget (which includes an increase of $4,275,700 in tax funds) is committed to meeting the salary problem with the "lion's share" earmarked for faculty members.

In answer to a question from Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington, Hardin said the University's faculty turnover was "not as great during this biennium as previously but there have been some significant losses."

He declared, however, that if the salaries are not increased, "we can anticipate what we had two years ago."

Brooks asked how much of the expansion budget (seeking $1.6 million in tax funds) was "based on additional services and how much on increased enrollment."

Not Enrollment

Hardin said none of the expansion budget was based on increased enrollment, but was aimed at increasing teaching, research and public service programs.

The chancellor said there "may be some (enrollment) increase (in the coming biennium) which means our costs will be higher, but the resulting tuition increases will take care through this biennium."

He added the University believes its large enrollment increase "is going to come just beyond this biennium."

Hardin explained that 70% of the expansion budget is directed toward "additional support in agricultural instruction, research and extension work."

Largest Item

Largest item in the expansion budget is $796,500 for agricultural experiment station work, including $190,000 for a Sandhills Experiement Station in the Niobrara Division of the Nebraska National Forest.

Gov. Anderson asked if the expanded program would then become a continuing program, Hardin said it would, and said it has been estimated the annual operating expense of the Sandhills station would be about $50,000.

Another item included in the expansion budget is $108,000 to provide an additional surgical unit at the Medical College in Omaha.

Greater Variety

Hardin said the surgical service expansion will require additional surgical and nursing personnel, and equipment and supplies, and is needed to provide medical and nursing students with a greater variety and number of general surgical cases.

It also will meet the increasing number of cases being referred to University Hospital by the counties of the state, the University said.

A second major item in the Medical Center expansion program is the employment of a physical therapist and a physical therapy aide "in response to a trend which is emphasizing the role of rehabilitation and physical medicine."

E. GERMANY, POLAND URGE SUMMIT MEET

Berlin (AP) — East Germany and Poland called Monday for an East-West summit conference to avert the danger of war.

The two Communist nations, in a joint communique, urged chiefs of the great powers to renew negotiations on disarmament and creation of a central European zone free of atomic weapons.

"This will contribute to reducing the danger of armed conflict in Europe," said the communique, signed by Walter Ulbricht and Wlayds-law Gomulka, Communist Party bosses of East Germany and Poland. The communique, published by the East German news agency ADN, was issued shortly after Ulbricht returned to Berlin from a 6-day visit to Poland.

Gomulka joined with Ulbricht in demanding the ouster of Western troops from Berlin and acceptance of the Soviet proposal to turn the isolated metropolis into a free city.

But the two Communist leaders, in sounding a call for a summit parley, did not indicate that Moscow was ready to place Berlin on the agenda.

Youths Held In Scheme To Defraud Ken Eddy's

The defrauding of Ken Eddy's Drive In at 48th and O by some persons employed there is being investigated by police.

Police said an undetermined amount of money has been taken by employes during the past 3 months. Six 16-year-old boys and one boy 17 have been referred to the County Juvenile Probation Office.

Another 17-year-old boy has been released as not involved and an 18-year-old boy is expected to be arraigned on a charge Saturday in County Court in connection with the thefts.

The Scheme

Police said the scheme worked this way:

Two copies of customer orders are made by an employe inside the drive in, who then hands them to the employe stationed at the window through which orders are handed. The window employe is supposed to put one copy on a spike and give the other copy to the car hop outside, for delivery with the order.

But police said, the "inside" man has been giving both copies of the order form to the car hops, who collect for the orders as usual then pocket the money. When an audit of the orders is made at the end of the evening the car hops must pay the amounts they owe, according to the tickets filed on the spike inside.

But having burned both copies of some orders, the car hops have money left over. They then split the money with the "inside" man who gave them both copies of the orders.

The drive in manager, police said, uncovered the scheme when he noticed an unusual number of the serialized order forms were not accounted for.

GOP Liberals Threaten Party Fight

Senate Scrap Looms Over Leadership

Washington (AP)— Ten strong supporters of Eisenhower foreign policy, most of whom regard themselves as Liberals, banded together Monday for a fight to win control of the Republican leadership in the Senate.

The 10 senators voted unanimously to offer a full slate of candidates to the Republican caucus which meets in January to elect officers for the new Senate.

This was a challenge to Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, long time chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, and to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Bridges' choice to succeed retiring Sen. William F. Knowland of California as Republican floor leader.

It could lead to a decision by Bridges, the senior Senate Republican, to ask for the floor leadership himself. Bridges has said he would seek that post if a fight developed over Dirksen. Most congressional observers say it would be difficult to defeat Bridges, because of his senior position, even if the insurgents gained enough strength to block Dirksen.

Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, spokesman for the group which met Monday, said no effort was made to pick candidates at the two-hour session. Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky urged the no compromise stand.

Candidates will be picked at another meeting Dec. 30, Aiken said, after the 10 who met as volunteers carry out an extensive recruiting campaign among colleagues.

Feels Chances Good

Aiken said 4 other Senators were invited Monday but could not attend. With only 34 Republicans in the new Senate, Aiken said his group had a good chance to win.

"We would appreciate some encouragement from the White House," he added. He said Vice President Nixon was not involved in the movement.

Women Aid Kellogg Center

University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford Hardin is shown accepting pledges and checks totaling $50,000 from representatives of some of the various women's organizations comprising the Women's Division of the state-wide fund drive for the proposed NU Kellogg Center. Presenting their group's contributions are (from left) Mrs. L. E. Hoover, of the Lincoln P.E.O. chapters, Mrs. R. D. Stage of the State American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Hazel Abel, chairman of the Women's Division, and Mrs. Jack Stewart, of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Among the contributions was a $10,000 pledge from the American Legion Auxiliary, which Mrs. Stage said will help the organization realize its long-time dream for permanent facilities for the annual Cornhusker Girls State program. (Star Photo).

Fine Of $50 Levied For Pistol Shots

Edward Nobles of 422 No. 22nd was fined $50 on an assault and battery charge in Lancaster County Court in connection with a shooting incident Dec. 3 at the Lincoln Air Force Base housing area.

Nobles, 40, had pleaded guilty before Judge Herbert A. Ronin.

The 46-year-old Lincolnite at whom Nobles allegedly fired several pistol shots, Henry Finney of 1950 T, also pleaded guilty to an assault and battery charge and was fined $25. Finney, whom authorities said had exchanged blows with Nobles before the shooting took place, had earlier pleaded innocent.

A third assault and battery charge filed against Finney's 27-year-old son, Charles, of 2331 S, was dismissed by the judge at the motion of the county attorney. Charles Finney had pleaded innocent to the charge, which was filed in connection with the same incident.

U.S. ACCUSED OF FIRING ON RUSS PLANE

London (UPI) — The Soviet Union charged Monday that a U.S. military plane fired without cause on a Soviet plane over Latvia last month. The United States called the accusation a "dream."

The Soviet Tass news agency said a note of protest handed to the U.S. embassy in Moscow charged that a U.S. plane opened "unprovoked fire" on a Soviet fighter near Ventspils, a Latvian coastal town across the Baltic Sea from Sweden.

The Tass report, vague on details, said that "on the 7th and 8th of November, there occurred clearly deliberate flights for hostile purposes, made by aircraft of the U.S. Air Force near the territory of the U.S.S.R. in the Baltic area and in the Far East area."

In Washington, State Department spokesman Lincoln White said that if the Russian note charged unprovoked fire, "It must have been dreamed up."

Judge To Review Recovery Plea For $1,500 Bond

Omaha (AP) — Federal District Judge Richard E. Robinson took under advisement Monday the plea of bondsman L. S. Cornett for recovery of part of a $1,500 bond forfeited by the court.

The judge forfeited the bond last August when Woodrow J. Sawchyn, 44, formerly of Council Bluffs, failed to appear for sentencing on charges of forging and passing a government check.

Later Captured

Sawchyn was later captured in Minnesota and now is serving 18 months on the check charge and on bail jumping.

The government sought to prove that Cornett had been "adequately compensated."

Sawchyn testified he and his "common law wife" had given Cornett a deed to a home they were building which he estimated was about two thirds completed, and worth about $4,600. Cornett said the property was encumbered and further that he had spent about $1,700 trying to locate Sawchyn.

Mrs. Blanche Bechtolt, 48, of 2513 No. 63rd suffered a head injury in a two-car collision at 16th and Vine Monday afternoon, according to police.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her son Evard D. Bechtolt, 18. Driver of the other auto was Dennis L. Siefford, 18, Burr Hall resident.

Helmets A Must

Blaze Damages No. 63rd Garage

Fire caused considerable damage Monday afternoon to the garage at the Robert L. Litzenberg residence, 3505 No. 63rd, according to the fire department.

The fire, which also resulted in smoke damage to the house, apparently started when a light cord leading to a dog house inside the garage shorted, they said.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

As I remember this suit, it was double-breasted with peak lapels. It had a magical, magnetic quality: It picked up lint and dust better than our carpet sweeper.

I think honestly when I walked in a room, you did not have to sweep that room for a couple of weeks. Everything loose in the room lifted itself automatically from the carpet. Drifted onto me like snow.

That old blue serge graduation suit of mine. Ah, memories.

Well, if you are watching the ads these days, you should know that dark blue graduation suits are all the rage for gentlemen.

Have not purchased one of these social items yet. But I have been looking at them in the windows. I always look in the windows. Being afraid to walk in the store.

"Just slip this one on for size," the man says to you.

"I was just looking."

"Might as well see if we can fit you. No use looking if we can't fit you. Ha, ha."

They can fit you all right. Never worry about that. I have no sales resistance. That is why I stay outside the windows.

I must say those blue suits are mighty pretty.

If I got inside—. I buy such things even after looking at myself in the mirrors. You know? Where they say, "Step up to the mirror."

You look at yourself in those three-way mirrors. And you think, "Heavenly days, do I look like that?" And your whole day is spoiled. In fact, you are in such a shock, they could sell you anything.

You get used to looking at yourself head-on while you are shaving. But those three-sided mirrors trim you down somewhat.

☆ ☆ ☆

I suppose it is different buying a dark blue suit today. When we bought our graduation suits, our mothers took us down to the store.

She said: "How about the material?" This suit has to last three years."

Gad, but that was embarrassing! Positively confessing to poverty. If she had not told him, the store man would think we popped in practically every week for a new suit. Threw the old one away.

"First quality serge, Madam," said the store man. "That suit should last him a lifetime." (We made up our mind to get HIM someday.)

"It seems a little big in the back," said our mother.

"It gives him room to grow into it, Madam."

All the time we stood there looking at ourself in the three-way mirror.

The suit had a belt in the back. But the peaks of the lapels were not high enough. And there were about a hundred things different than the one Rudolph Valentino wore. Gosh!

"Do you like it?" That was a minor gesture to our opinion.

"It's OK, I guess."

If you told your family WHY the suit was wrong, you just got a lot of talk about "wanting to look like a tramp." What was the use?

Once you got the blue serge suit, you had to be careful of it. You wore it and wore it. To church. To parties. It was still being worn when graduation was long ago and far away.

The first time you snagged it—climbing a barb wire fence as I recall. The first snag, you would have thought you murdered somebody. Or something.

And the brushing!

"Can't you keep yourself tidy? I declare you must get down and roll on the floor. Give me that brush!"

I don't know where you would expect anyone to roll except on the floor. But that is the wrong answer. I was certainly glad when that suit wore out. It almost wore me out.

Teachers Colleges Get OK To Push Building Plans

Peru and Chadron State Teachers Colleges have received State Normal Board authorization to commission Clark and Enersen, Lincoln architectural firm, to draw plans for construction at the two schools.

The plans will center on expansion of a women's dormitory, construction of a new student union and men's dormitory at ePru and construction of a dormitory wing for women students at Chadron.

A Women's dormitory at Peru will be razed as a fire hazard.

The Peru student union is expected to cost $275,000; the women's dormitory expansion, $160,000, and construction of a men's dormitory, $290,000.

$320,000 Dorm Wing

Construction of the dormitory wing at Chadron is expected to cost $320,000.

The Board said architect's plans probably would not be completed until next spring, and construction could not begin before January of 1960.

Construction in all cases will be financed by revenue bond issues.

The Board also said Wayne State Teachers Collge has employed the Omaha Architectural firm of John Latenser Jr. and Sons, to submit preliminary plans for two dormitories, each to accommodate 150 students and each costing in the neighborhood of $475,000.

The new men's dormitory at Peru is expected to accommodate 90 additional students, and renovation at the women's dormitory will house an additional 68 students. The dormitory wing at Chadron will accommodate 96 more students.

In other business, the Board accepted the resignation of Dean M. B. Street of Wayne State Teachers College. Dean Street is accepting a new position at Morningside College in Sioux City. A replacement at Wayne will not be sought until next summer.

Possibilities of installing new laundry equipment at Kearney State Teachers College were discussed.

THE ANNIVERSARY

One Red Rose for Christmas

By Paul Horgan

(This is the fourth of ten chapters condensed from the book, "One Red Rose for Christmas," by Paul Horgan, published by Longmans, Green and Company, New York.)

Naturally, now, one year later, Mother Seraphin was reminded of that tragic Christmas.

Sad things came to mind rather than happy things. Think of it: her sister ill two days, a violent chill, pneumonia by evening, and no reaction at all to the latest treatments. It seemed that she went almost by her own consent, but that could hardly be so in one who made so much of life as Sister St. Anne. It would be better to remember the happy things—how, today, in place of the totally destroyed old wing, there stood the new one, fireproof, with so many improvements, how generous the bishop had been, and how safe the children were now in the new quarters.

"No lives lost," thought Mother Seraphin, and rebuked herself for bitterness in remembering what everyone had said last year after the fire. They referred, of course, to the children. But what, after all, had killed her sister? And who, therefore, had killed her?

She shook her head. It was a thought that she must dismiss.

If Kathie had really set the fire, if poor Kathie, irresponsible, with her nose running, and her hair hanging like wet grass, and with that sly look at one corner of her mouth that was meant to be a winning smile, had done that crime, then she had also killed.

There was a knock on the door.

"Come in."

It was Sister Mary Agnes. Her sleeves were pinned back, and she had a great apron over her robe and she was blowing upon her hands in which she held a small object.

"Yes, Sister?"

"Mother, I think you should see this."

Purple Velvet Vox

She handed over a jeweler's small purple velvet box with a mother of pearl button by which it could be opened. Mother Seraphin pressed, and the lid came open with an elegant creak. The box was empty. There were fancy gold letters impressed in the white satin lining of the lid.

"Kirschbaum's," read Mother Seraphin. "Where did you get it?"

"I was crossing in back of the dormitory just now and saw it hanging by a string from a window in the older girls' rooms. So I went up and found which window and which bed, and thought I should tell you."

"Quite right, Sister. "Whose?"

Sister Mary Agnes made the empty face that usually went with the cross they had to bear, and said.

"Kathie's."

"Where do you suppose she got it?"

"She went shopping yesterday with the sisters who had to buy the last-minute things for today."

And now look .

"Such a beautiful box!" said Sister Mary Agnes, implying that it must have held something of priceless value, and perhaps hoping the theft was monstrous.

Mother Seraphin sighed. "If one could only believe Kathie, I would ask her all about it. I must, in any case. Who went shopping? Was it Sister Augustine and Sister Martha Mary?"

"Yes, Mother."

"Would you be a dear and send either one of them to me here, and tell Kathie I want her too?"

"Yes, Mother."

Sister Mary Agnes went away content.

Until they came, it did not matter who came first as she would have to hear the story from both, Moter Seraphin sat with her hands folded and her eyes shut, saying to herself that one day was pretty much like another; that it was falsely emotional to make so much of an anniversary except in prayer; that her own desires and feelings were unimportant when the joy of over two hundred other souls might depend upon her today; and that the best thing to do with the ache in her heart was to offer it up to God as a small tribute for greater suffering.

Attorney General Rules On Power Of Tax Officials

Taxing officials may correct the tax lists in a case where a telephone company failed to make the depreciation allowance set by taxing regulations, the attorney general's office has held.

The opinion answered a question put by Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington.

Taxing rules prescribe that actual value for telephone property shall be the current book value less an average depreciation of 40%.

The company involved was not aware of the depreciation allowance, the opinion noted.

Although the time for appeal to the county board of equalization on property valuations has long since expired, county officials may correct an erroneous assessment, the opinion said. This would cover the case at issue, it added.

SEW SHARP!

Christmas sewing can take the "edge" off sharp scissors! Lady I know always keeps a piece of sandpaper handy with her sewing supplies. When her scissors need sharpening, she cuts through it a few times. Machine needle is quickly sharpened, too, when she stitches through sandpaper.

CLEAN CORNERS

Here's a slick trick sent to us by Mrs. J. E. Garvick, St. Paul, Minn.: Trim a whisk broom to a "V" shape. Makes it so easy to get at those hard-to-clean corners on your sofa, stuffed chairs, and floors. A good help in getting the house back to normal after the bustling holiday season is over!

FIVE IN ONE

Building or remodeling? You needn't have multiple installations of separate appliances. All that's required is one single installation! The gas industry's dramatic new appliance concept, the "Multimatic Wall," lets you have your cooking, refrigeration, laundering, hot water heating and house heating all in one unit. The efficiency, convenience and time-saving features of this handsome "Multimatic Wall" make you the queen of your kitchen. Take Dad Christmas shopping at your local gas company or gas appliance dealer now.

WINDOW PAINS

Washing both inside and outside of a window? You'll instantly know which side the streaks are on after wiping, if you wipe vertically on one side, horizontally on the other. P. S.: Keep Jack Frost off windshields and windows by rubbing with alcohol, salt water or a cut onion surface. Finish by polishing with a soft cloth.

MOCK OIL PAINTING

Want to make a magazine print look like an oil painting? Mount picture on heavy cardboard. Cover with cheesecloth and fold edges in back and stitch across to hold in place. Cover with a thin coat of clear shellac. Frame, wrap —and it's ready for Christmas.

HAM SCRAMBLE

Quick treat after a day of shopping — this nourishing "Ham Scramble" sent to us by Mrs. Harry Vogt, Council Bluffs, Iowa: Brown 1 small chopped onion and 1 cup cooked rice in 3 Tbsp. shortening. Add 3 beaten eggs and 1 cup chopped ham or other left-over meat. Fry until eggs set. Serve with crisp salad or fresh apple slices.

HEADS UP!

Have trouble keeping a wide brimmed hat on during windy Winter weather? Sew a small comb inside the front part of the crown, (teeth upward). Comb goes through hair without messing it; wind won't disturb your hat.

MODEST COST

4,000 years ago, the Chinese piped natural gas through hollow bamboo "pipelines." Since then, the gas industry has come a long way. Billions of dollars of pipelines stretch across the country. Years of research and planning have made it one of the largest public utilities. Yet everyone can afford this miracle fuel! Piped by Northern Natural Gas Company to your local gas company, then into your home . . . gas is today's perfect servant . . . completely dependable!

Dear Abby . . .

Other Side Of The Story

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please print this in defense of married women on the Postman's Route. After I moved into a new neighborhood, the Postman kept asking me for a drink of water (you'd give a dog a drink of water!) and also for the use of my telephone. Then I found out he only lived around the corner from me. There are two sides to every story.

MARRIED WOMAN

DEAR ABBY: It was nice of you to stick up for the women, but I was a postman, and believe me, there were plenty of married ladies on my route who were never too busy or too tired in the morning to invite me in. "RANG TWICE"

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: That "Postman" who wrote that all the women on his route were after him sounded as phony as a three-dolla. bill. "POSTMAN" is the traditional Canadian-British designation. In AMERICA we call them "CARRIERS" or "MAILMEN" and it's a long time since the Redcoats left Pennsylvania. Another thing, Abby: The Postal Department has regulations for the behavior of their employees and if anyone pulled any tricks resembling what POSTMAN claims, he'd be out before he could say "Civil Service." It used to be the "Milkman" and the "Iceman" —now it's the POSTMAN. I've toted a mailbag for 30 years and I can say that our housewives are a clean and moral lot.

DEAR ABBY: A certain boy at school kept pestering me for a date so I went out with him just to get rid of him. He has a reputation for being fast and he sure lived up to it. I let him know he couldn't get a thing off me, but according to the stories going around school, my name is mud. What can a girl do about a boy who makes up dirty lies about her? I want to clear my name. "MUD"

DEAR MUD: You can avoid this boy (and his kind) like small pox, and charge it off to experience.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Town Talk

—Party plans and preparations for a festive holiday week are filling to overflowing the pages of our Little Red Book.

We predict that one of the busiest affairs of the Yule Season will be the dance planned for Tuesday evening, Dec. 30, when the Lincoln contingent which attends Shattuck School, Faribault, Minn., will entertain approximately 120 friends at the Lincoln Country Club.

The young hosts, who will arrive home from classes on Friday, Dec. 19, are John Roehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roehl; John Hilton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Hiram Hilton; David Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson; Allen Van Dervoort, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Van Dervoort; Art Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Thompson; and Tom Henrion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Henrion.

* * *

—Understand that the annual Christmas tea of the junior girls at Southeast High School will be held Sunday, Dec. 21, between the hours of 2 o'clock and 5 o'clock, at the home of Miss C. Leigh Purvis.

Co-hostesses with Miss Purvis will be Miss Charlotte Suder, Miss Judy Schorr, Miss Beth Hemmer, Miss Gretchen Van Bloom, Miss Sandra Isgrig, Miss Barbara Miller, Miss Barb Edwards, Miss Marcia Shumate and Miss Auralea Sharrar.

* * *

—And coming from Boulder, Colo., on Christmas Day to spend the long holiday week end will be Mr. and Mrs. James Junge and their small daughter, Debbie, who will be the houseguests of Mr. Junge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Junge.

* * *

—The center of an admiring circle of friends and relatives these days is Timothy Sean Rierden, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Rierden, who was born on Sunday, Dec. 7, at Lincoln General Hospital. Timothy's mother will be remembered as the former Jan Beach, and his grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Beach of Lincoln, and Mrs. W. J. Rierden of Montezuma, Ind.

Young Mr. Rierden also has two sisters, Kathy and Annie, and two brothers, Jimmy and Bill.

* * *

—Also joining the ranks of holiday guests in town will be Mr. and Mrs. Tom Webster of Tucson, Ariz., who will arrive on Monday to be the guests of Mrs. Webster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jouvenat. And completing the family group will be Miss Sue Jouvenat who will come from Chicago this week end in time to join her parents in welcoming her brother-in-law and sister.

* * *

—Another member of the away-at-school crowd who arrived home on Saturday is Miss Susan Fraser, who will be the holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Avon Fraser. Miss Fraser will return to her studies at Grinell, Ia., on Jan. 5.

B, PW Club

The board members and committee chairmen of the Republican Business and Professional Women's Club will meet at the Governor's Mansion at 7:15 o'clock this evening.

Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Schmidt were host and hostess at their home last Friday evening at their 12th annual Christmas party. Twenty guests were invited for an informal evening.

A Pizza Party For "Peppers"

Last Saturday night, the Links met Pius High School for their first home game of the season, and a social "must" were the many pregame dinners without which a high school basketball game is not complete.

Entertaining the cheerleaders of both schools at a pregame pizza dinner was Miss Jackie Gatto who is pictured above with her guests.

To Hear Talk

Leendard Kersten of The Netherlands will be guest speaker this evening when the Metropolitan B, PW Club will meet at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Jack Tharp, 440 No. Cotner. A graduate student at the University of Nebraska, Mr. Kersten will speak on, "How Europeans See America."

The Star In Suburbia

EASTRIDGE

It's a small world as Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hagen discovered last week end when they had as their guests two of the members of the gymnastic team from Denmark, Annie Lyng and Yette Bahnsen, both from Copenhagen.

On Tuesday evening, Grethe Mogensen and Kirsten Krause, also tea mmembers and the houseguests of the Rev. and Mrs. James Olsen, were invited to the Hagen home for coffee. During the evening, Mrs. Hagen learned that Grethe's home was in Vejle, Denmark, and that Grethe knew her cousin who resides at Vejle.

And mention of the Hagen family reminds us that on Saturday they will have as their guests friends from Minneapolis, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kurup. Mr. and Mrs. Kurup will be enroute to Dallas, Tex., where they will spend the Christmas holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Marthaler and their family.

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Wes Maser will be entertaining at their home on Saturday evening at a neighborhood Christmas dinner party. The guests will include members of Mr. and Mrs. Maser's bridge group, and each member couple will invite a guest couple.

Then we heard that Mr. and Mrs. Maser are expecting guests for the Christmas holidays who are Mrs. Maser's sister, Miss Barbara McElwain of Minneapolis, Minn., and her fiance, Art Gunderson, also of Minneapolis; and Mrs. Maser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. McElwain of Sloan, Ia.

A recent surprise party was held at the home of Cheryl McQuillen in honor of the birthday anniversary of 13-year-old Mary Frances Schulenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schulenberg, who has moved with her family to Falls City. Joining the fun at the no-hostess affair were Carol Coe, Sharon Hausner, Susan Hotvedt, Ann Schamel, Nona Mae Rogers, Kitty Frink, Beverly Armstrong, Sharon Haman, Phyllis Hauser, Kathy Bourke, Mikey Coe, Linda Fowler, Mary Pat Hanigan, and Ann Higgins.

A hostess at her home on Thursday afternoon at a Christmas tea was Mrs. Joseph Kinney who entertained for some of the faculty members at Eastridge School. Those included in the guest list were Miss Inez Baker, Mrs. Harold Nelson, Miss Marje Eickman, Mrs. Tom Atyeo, and Miss Vivian Gustafson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gray will be a host and hostess at their home Saturday night at a Christmas dinner and bridge party. Those present at the pot-luck affair will be the members of Mrs. Gray's bridge club and their husbands.

The group will include Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Christopher, Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Engelhard, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wickencamp, and Mr. and Mrs. William Knight.

Huskers Collect 4th Win, 54-46

By Ron Speer

Thanks to a sterling zone defense which completely baffled Texas Tech, Nebraska Monday night collected its 4th straight victory in the Coliseum, 54-46.

Only blemish on the Huskers record this season is last Saturday's 78-57 loss to Minnesota on the Gophers' court.

The Huskers were jittery and ragged Monday night but a hustling, heads-up zone limited Tech to long pitches from the outside and the Raiders were able to connect on only 17 of 71 for a dismal 23 per cent.

Turning point of the game was the 10-minute field goal shutout the Huskers applied on Tech after the halftime break. The Raiders managed only 2 free throws in that period and Nebraska built up a 19-point cushion which Tech was unable to overcome.

Reserves Helped

The Husker reserves contributed a large share to the victory. Dick Shipwright, John Cahill and Bill Lundholm saw a good deal of action and moved the ball well. Lundholm got 6 points and 4 rebounds, Shipwright hit for 5 points and Cahill set up several scoring plays and captured 4 rebounds.

The score was tied 4 times before Herschell Turner drove through for a dazzling lay-up to give the Huskers an 18-16 advantage. Tech never caught up.

NU Led

Nebraska led at the half 35-23, and free throws by Easy Al Maxey and Bob Harry, plus 5 straight points by Shipwright, put the Huskers out front 44-25, as Tech collected only 2 free throws in the 10-minute drouth.

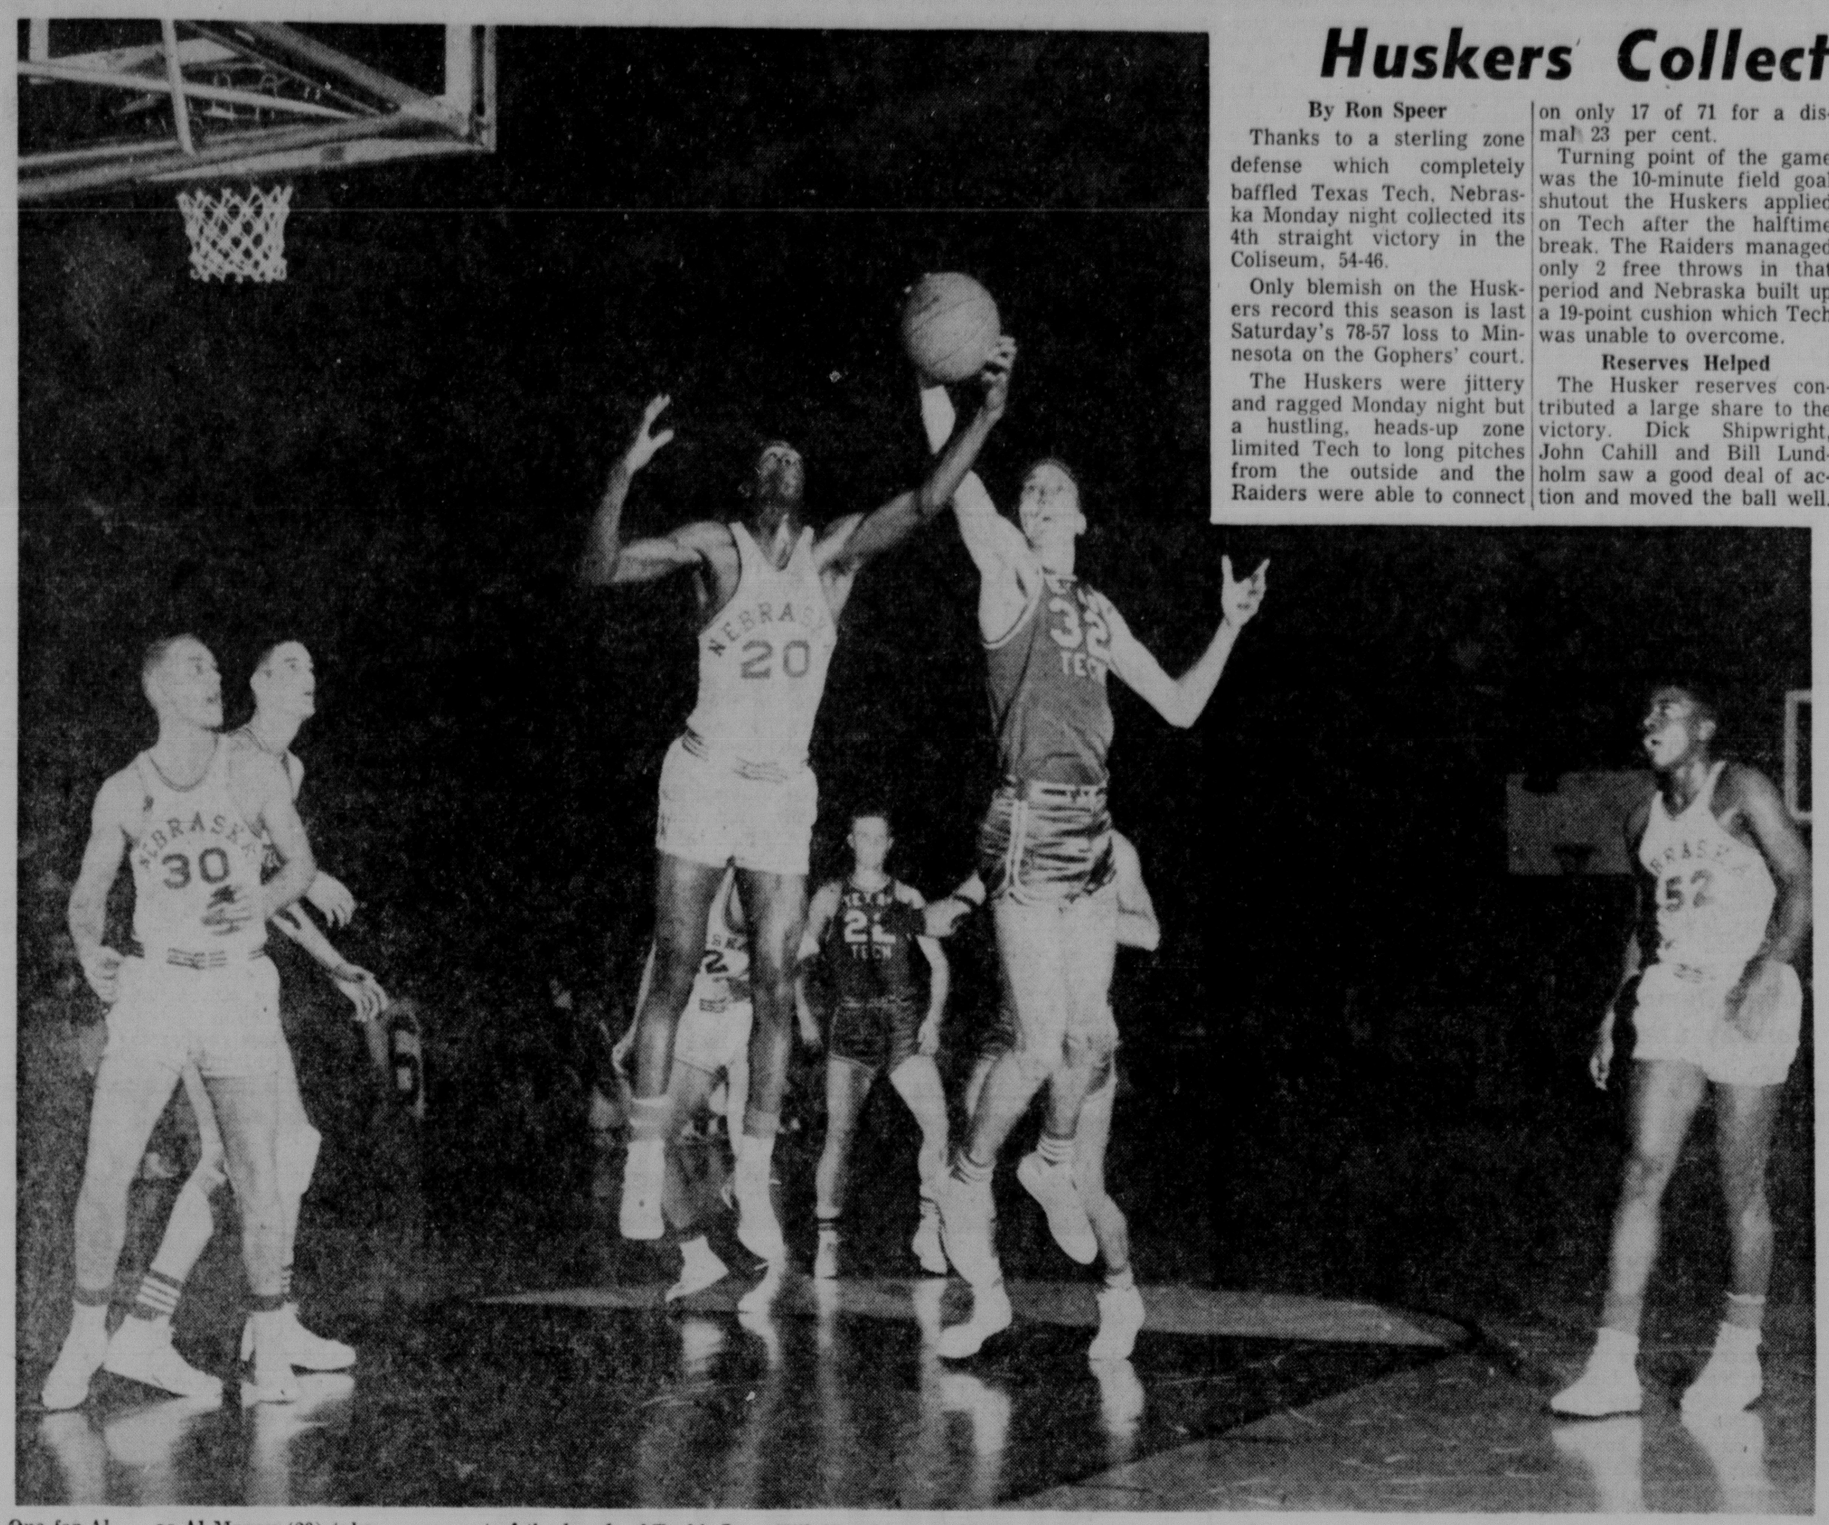

It was Tech's 2nd straight loss. The Raiders had won 3 in a row before falling to Iowa last Saturday.

None of the Huskers were in top form. Maxey led the scoring with 16 points. Turner had 11, and 8 rebounds.

Extras—Harry, who was benched in favor of George Swank at the start, did a good job when he got in...fighting fiercely the 6-6 junior pulled in 8 rebounds to tie Turner in that department...Coach Bush said "a real fine job by all of our reserves, the boys really hustled defensively"...Tech Coach Polk Robison had little comment, except "it's always tough to win on the road...we're going to win some games and so will Jerry's team...it's hard to compare Nebraska and Oklahoma, they are completely different ball clubs"...The Huskers outrebounded the tall Texans, 52-51...The NU field goal percentage was 38.8...Attendance was estimated at 6,000...Nebraska got only 7 fielders in the 2nd half, while Tech hit 8 despite the 10-minute blanking...The Raiders' last 2 points were scored several minutes after the game. Leon Hill was fouled at the gun and the officials were unable to clear the crowd for some time...Hill sank both shots despite being surrounded by Nebraska fans...and the 2 free tosses gave him point honors for Tech with 11...Tech guard Gerald Myers, All-Southwest last season...boasts a quick jump shot, but he hit only 5 of them...next Nebraska foe is undefeated Bradley, a team that has won 4 straight this winter...The Huskers play Bradley Thursday, then meet Michigan State Saturday night.

. . . Cyclones Fall, 68-46

Champaign, Ill. (AP)— Illinois jumped off to a 16-1 lead and then coasted to a 68-46 victory over Iowa State in a non-conference basketball game Monday night. Roger Taylor led the victors with 20 points.

The Cyclones were so cold early in the game they missed their first 18 attempts and didn't make a basket until about 9 minutes were played.

Illinois, scorings its 3rd triumph in 4 games, was never in serious difficulty although Iowa State managed to move within 6 points of Illinois early in the second half, whittling the Illini lead to 37-31.

Taylor, scoring 16 of his points in the second half, went on a personal scoring spree and put Illinois on the road to victory.

The loss was Iowa State's 3rd in 5 games. Larry Fie grabbed scoring honors for the visitors with 19 points.

A touching finale to the football season: the Pitt Panthers have named 3 Pittsburgh sports writers as honorary co-captains of the all-opponent team.

Myron Cope of the Post-Gazette, George Kiseda of the Sun-Telegraph and Roy McHugh of the Press were named for writing how terrible Nebraska was before the Panthers made the journey west.

The Cornhuskers upset Pitt 14-6.

Before the game, all 3 Pittsburgh writers scribbled that Nebraska had little chance of winning.

The Pittsburgh players decided to honor the writers because they made the Panthers overconfident and were instrumental in the Husker victory.

Which all goes to prove that football players can read, after all.

George Swank, senior from Mansfield, O., is one of the most improved members of Coach Jerry Bush's basketball team. Bush cited him for his play in a losing effort against Minnesota last Saturday, and gave him a starting spot Monday night against Texas Tech, replacing Bob Harry of York.

Although not the most graceful player on the court, Swank's desire and determination are on the spectacular side.

Incidentally, fans at the Tech-Husker game Monday night might have noticed something familiar about the offense which the Raiders used against the Nebraska zone.

The Tech team calls it the "Cornhusker Offense" and well they might. They copied it from Bush's attack—but Monday night didn't use it well.

Wisconsin Moves Past Tigers 68-60

Madison, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin grabbed an early lead and led all the way in beating Missouri 68-60 in a non-conference basketball game Monday night.

Bob Barneson, with 18 points, led the Badgers to their second victory in 5 starts. The loss was the 3rd in 5 games for the Tigers and gives them a 0-3 mark against Big Ten opponents this season.

Al Abram was high for Missouri with 15 points as all 10 of his teammates got into the scoring.

Missouri was unable to penetrate the tight Wisconsin defense and most of its shots came from the outside.

Wisconsin, hitting on more than half its shots, grabbed a 23-10 lead midway in the first half and left the floor at the intermission with a 32-25 edge. Barneson got 12 of his total during the first half.

After the second half opened Missouri pulled to within 4 points as Abram dropped in a layup to make it 34-30 but the Tigers didn't threaten again until late in the game when two baskets by Joe Scott cut the margin to 55-50.

Wisconsin widened its advantage with 4 free throws and then began a stall that lasted to the end. The Badgers made 17 of 21 free throw attempts in the second half.

Steve Stephens had 17 points for Wisconsin and Brian Kulas 16. Scott followed Abrams in Missouri scoring with 8 points.

Ike's Meet Tonight

A luncheon-meeting of the Lincoln chapter of the Izaak Walton League will be held at the No. 48th Street clubhouse Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m.

Boozer Hurt In BYU Win

Provo, Utah (AP)—Unheralded Brigham Young University outhustled 3rd-ranked Kansas State Monday night and handed the Wildcats a stunning 77-68 basketball defeat.

It was Kansas State's first loss in 5 games this season.

Sophomore Gary Earnest scored 28 points and sparked Brigham Young's Cougars with his aggressive play.

BYU pulled away in the second half to leads of as much as 16 points, with John Nicoll, Dave Eastis and Earnest providing the scoring spark.

Bob Boozer, 6-8 center for K-State, wrenched a trick left knee in both halves and played only about 10 minutes of the game. Brigham Young held only a 39-38 advantage two minutes into the second half, when Boozer was pulled out for the second time.

Then the Cougars built up a 16-point advantage, holding a 64-48 lead with 9 minutes to play.

Boozer came back in briefly at this point and scored one field goal in short Wildcat rally that cut the score to 66-54 with a little more than 5 minutes to play. But the ailing knee forced the big center to leave again.

Wally Frank scored 18 points for K-State. Nicoll had 21 for BYU.

Peru Wallops Doane, 91-56

Lincoln Star Special

Crete—Peru, whipped along with a 55-point second half, walloped Doane 91-56 here Monday night to increase its victory string to 5 games and run its Nebraska College Conference mark to 2-0.

Bob Mayo paced the unbeaten Bobcats with 21 points while Jack Johnson and Jon Appleget each added 17. Peru led 36-28 at the half.

For Doane, DeLoyd Larsen was high with 11 tallies and Fred Brown and Jack Huck each had 10. The Tigers are now 0-2 in NCC play.

Buchholz Tops In Junior Rankings

New York (AP) — Earl Buchholz Jr., the 18-year-old St. Louis player who was sent to Australia with the U. S. Davis Cup team to gain experience and promptly outdid his more experienced teammates, drew the No. 1 junior ranking for 1958 in the list released Monday by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Assn.

Buchholz was given 16th place in the men's rankings, published Sunday. Other No. 1 players on the miscellaneous lists:

Senior's singles — Gardner Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.; boy's singles (15 and under)—Clark Graebner, Lakewood, Ohio; girls' singles—Sally M. Moore, Bakersfield, Calif.; Girls (15) singles — Victoria Palmer, Phoenix, Ariz.

Frosh Whites Topple Reds

Seven players hit in double figures as the Whites defeated the Reds 77-72 with a strong second half comeback in a freshman intra-squad game before the Nebraska-Texas Tech game Monday night.

Ivan Grupe had 15 points, Sid Stacey 14, Al Roots 13 and LeRoy Dick 10 for the Whites who overcome a 31-24 halftime deficit. Phil Barth topped all scorers with 23 points while Rex Swett added 18 and Jan Wall 13 for the Reds.

Calhoun Rallies

Cleveland (AP) — Rory Calhoun took a beating in the early rounds of a 10-round middleweight bout Monday night but recovered and hammered out a unanimous decision over Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

Whitehall Wins

Whitehall Home for Children defeated St. Patrick's 48-36 Monday night in a junior high basketball game.

Redlegs, Topeka OK Agreement

Topeka, Kan.—The Topeka Hawks of the Three-I League have signed a working agreement with the Cincinnati Redlegs.

This completes the lineup of working agreements for the league in 1959.

Other ties are Lincoln, Chicago White Sox; Des Moines, Philadelphia Phillies; Sioux City, Kansas City Athletics; Green Bay, Los Angeles Dodgers; Appleton, Washington Senators; Cedar Rapids, Milwaukee Braves; and Burlington, Chicago Cubs.

Meeting Set Friday

The State Game Commission will meet here for a "routine" meeting Friday, a commission spokesman said Monday.

Election of officers will be held Jan. 15.

Chairman is Floyd Stone, Alliance. Vice chairman is Leon A. Sprague, Red Cloud.

KENTUCKY GETS OVERTIME WIN

Lexington, Ky. (AP)— Kentucky's unbeaten Wildcats suffered a major scare Monday night but finally pulled one out of the fire and defeated Maryland 58-56 in an overtime basketball game.

The Cats trailed by 3 points with only 3 seconds to go in regulation play.

Then Benny Coffman hit a crip, was fouled and tied it at 54-54, sending the game into overtime.

Fans Rush To Get NFL Playoff Tickets

New York (AP)—Long lines of chilled football fans stomped their feet and shelled out ready cash Monday for tickets to Sunday's playoff game between the New York Giants and the Cleveland Browns.

Despite the continued strike of newspaper delivery men that had forced all major papers to cease publication, the big city reacted vigorously to Sunday's 13-10 victory of the Giants over the Browns.

As the Giants had to win the game to tie the Browns for the Eastern Conference title, no tickets could be sold until the game was over. Then the dam burst.

Extra police were called out to control the frosty customers who beseiged the ticket windows at Yankee Stadium until 11 p.m. They were back again Monday norning. Most of the tickets were snapped up, except those calling for seats with an obstructed view.

All day long there were long lines extending from the ticket windows at Grand Central Station to the outside of the big railroad terminal.

The more fortunate fans who had bought regular season tickets lined up at the Giants' office at Colubmus Circle for the right to pick up their normal allotment. Wednesday is the deadline for the season ticket holders to exercise their privilege.

Jim Lee Howell, the Giants' head coach, was dashing around the office with a money box in hand. The club's press agent, Bob Daley, manned one of the windows, too busy to talk about the ball club unless you were in the ticket line.

It was something like the old days when the baseball clubs sold tickets for only the first 6 World Series games and then worked at a frantic pace if a 7th game were necessary.

It will be the same story all over again next week for the winner which will be the home club against the Baltimore Colts in the league championship playoff, Dec. 28.

The normal championship rules will be used in the Giants-Browns game. In the event of a tie at the end of regulation time, there will be a sudden death overtime.

Commissioner Bert Bell said in Philadelphia the teams would toss a coin to see which kicks and which receives in the overtime. Play would continue until one team scores. There would be the normal change of goals if a quarter elapsed but no halftime interval.

Most of the nation will see the 3rd meeting of the Giants and Browns on television (CBS) but the New York area will be blacked out. The game will start at 1:05 p.m. (CST).

The playoff receipts will be split 50-50 between the two contesting clubs. The players will receive a normal one-game salary. Of course, there is a generous player pool in the league championship game later.

Broadway oddsmakers have installed the Giants as slight favorites, 11 to 10, in the man-to-man-odds with no point differential. Cleveland was a slight choice in Sunday's game.

Strom, Pete Dawkins On Academic 11

Dallas (AP) — Brock Strom of Air Force Academy and Pete Dawkins of Army, who made the All-America, also landed on the 8th annual all-star academic team selected by sports writers, sportscasters, and publicists from over the nation.

The Midwest with 4 players and the East with 3 dominated the team announced Monday by Lester Jordan, athletic publicity director of Southern Methodist, who uses the nominations to arrive at the all-star combination.

To qualify for the team a player must have an average of B or higher in his academic course and also be a top footballer. Some of the candidates had straight A records.

Bob White of Ohio State, John Guzik of Pittsburgh, Andy Cvercko of Northwestern and Tom Koenig of Southern Methodist, who rated highly in the All-American selections, made the All-Academic team:

The team:

Ends—Ross Coyle, Oklahoma, and Bob Wetoska, Notre Dame.

Tackles—Brock Strom, Air Force Academy, and Andy Cvercko, Northwestern.

Guards—Tom Koenig, Southern Methodist, and John Guzik, Pittsburgh.

Center—Ben Donnell, Vanderbilt.

Backs—Pete Dawkins, Army; Bob White, Ohio State; Joe Tranchini, Navy, and Jon Hobbs, Wisconsin.

Luther Dumps York By 62-52

Wahoo—Luther JC, sparked by 20 points by Larry Oltmanns and 19 by Bob Larsen, topped York JC 62-52 here Monday night.

Luther led 31-23 at the half. Richard Anderson with 16 points and Tom Brewster with 15 paced York.

New NE Record

Helen Bailey set a new women's record for a scratch game at Northeast Lanes Monday night when she rolled a 263 in the Northeast Ladies League. She bowls for the Firestone Construction team and finished the night with a 569 series.

Clemson Surprises Sugar Bowl, Wants To Stun LSU

New York (AP) — One reason why Louisiana State University was happy to draw Clemson as its Sugar Bowl opponent was that officials figured a Carolina cow college woudn't sell more than 5,000 tickets and would send back as many to help satisfy LSU alumni who were hungry to see the national champion team.

Instead Clemson sold out its entire allotment two weeks ago and would like 5,000 more. And LSU's 10,000 hardly is enough to supply its student body.

This report was brought Monday by former Clemson sports publicity director Joe Sherman, who admits part of his "alumni business" up this way is telling alums they can't get Sugar Bowl seats. Adding a small commercial, Joe points out that the only grads who did get tickets were members of IPTAY (I Pay Ten A Year) — Clemson's athletic booster organization.

This will mark Clemson's 6th bowl trip since 1940 and as usual the Tigers are cast in the role of the unknown, unwanted underdogs. This delights Frank Howard, the always-quotable Clemson coach, who has found it makes his task easy.

Howard, taking his cue from LSU's colorfully-naked "Chinese Bandits" platoon, calls his boys the one-armed bandits—"Because they always make you think you're winning when you aren't."

That's about the way the Tigers performed this season in compiling an 8-2 record—few big scores or sensational plays, but they kept pulling out decisions, 6 of them by 8 points or less.

"I ain't got no Chinese Bandits or no white team, but I got two go teams that will be ready to give them trouble," the colorful, though ungrammatical Howard remarked the other day. He had planned to rest his somewhat battered squad from the season end until late last week. Instead he found the players, incensed by printed remarks about weak opposition for LSU and the "dull and unimaginative" Clemson attack, were out practicing anyway.

Clemson has two teams of about equal ability. Sherman calls them "two first teams, one of which doesn't start." They're sparked by two fine quarterbacks from the same hometown, Harvey White and Lowndes Shingler, and they have 3 big fullbacks, Doug Cline, Rudy Hayes and Mike Dukes, who don't need much imagination to pound out yards down the middle.

If past bowl records are any criterion, the Tigers probably will put on a good show in New Orleans. They beat Boston College 6-3 in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. They won a 24-23 thriller from Missouri in the 1949 Gator Bowl and beat Miami (Fla.) 15-14 in the 1951 Orange Bowl. In one of two bowl defeats, Clemson trailed Colorado 20-0 at half time in the Orange Bowl in 1957, bounced back to take a 21-20 lead, then finally lost 27-21.

Thoresens Receive Woody Dunn Cup

The Nebraska region of the Sports Car Club of America held its annual awards dinner and election of officers in Omaha, with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Thoresen of Lincoln receiving the Woody Dunn Memorial trophy.

The award is presented to the person or persons who make the greatest contribution to the club during the year and is named for the late Woody Dunn of Lincoln Air Force Base.

The group also elected officers who included George Gunter of Omaha, regional executive; Dale Thoresen, assistant executive; Mike Lemmers, Omaha, treasurer; Joe Mayer, Omaha, secretary and John Carter, Lincoln, activities director.

Maj. James Jelley, Maj. Clyde Versley and Capt. H. R. Peterson, all of Lincoln, were named to the board of governors.

Long Nixes Look At Chicago Books

Chicago (AP) — Dale Long, who made baseball history with his bat in 1956, passed up a chance to make some more Monday.

He rejected the Chicago Cub's offer to peruse their operational expenses. For a player to have access to such figures is believed to be unprecedented in baseball.

The Cubs wanted to show first baseman Long, the club's player representative, that since 1925 salaries never have been below 20 per cent of the gross income and in many instances was more.

The bookkeeping department spent a week preparing an analysis 5 or 6 pages long of the breakdown in income and expenses over the last 33 seasons.

This was made, vice president John Holland explained, so the club itself could determine the percentage of the gross for players' paychecks. It was the result of major league players, through their attorney J. Norman Lewis, proposing salaries of 20 per cent of a club's gross income—a proposal unanimously rejected by owners in their recent meeting in Washington, D.C.

"Long can see the analysis if he wants," Holland said. "But the reason he came to Chicago was a meeting with us on his 1959 contract."

Long, who set a major league record in 1956 with the Pittsburgh Pirates by hitting 8 homers in 8 consecutive games, said he would pass up the chance to look at the ledger.

"It's none of my business," he said. "They can tell me, and I believe them. It is nice they offered to show it to me. But I wouldn't understand it anyway.

"I think Lewis pulled a boner by not going into this 20 per cent business further. His basis was what he got from the Congressional hearings. The players didn't know what percentage went for salaries—they were in the dark about it.

"So Lewis comes up with his proposal. After it was rejected, a lot of player representatives went to the owners and found out that salaries make up more than 20 per cent of the gross income.

"The original proposal was for 25 per cent of a club's television and radio revenue for the season. This would have amounted to $6,000 more above the minimum of $7,000 for 400 players. But this never was submitted as planned at World Series time and this other one was substituted."

4 Commission Reps To Attend

Four representatives of the Nebraska Game Commission will attend the 20th Midwest Wildlife Conference at Columbus, O., beginning Tuesday. They are Orty Orr, Phil Agee, Jack Walstrom and George Schildman.

Red Willow, Wilsonville Hold Spotlight Tonight

Perhaps the most interesting prep game in the state tonight involves two of Nebraska's smallest schools.

It pits what may be the top Class D team, McCook Red Willow, at possibly the No. 1 Class E club, Wilsonville.

Both teams reached the state tourney last year and have several returnees. Wilsonville is led by 6-5 Bill Holliday, while Larry Reimers is pacing Red Willow. The Willow has scored two easy triumphs, Wilsonville is 3-0 so far in the young season.

Pawnee City at Auburn in a Southeast Border clash also brings together two schools expected to be powers in their classes. Auburn, Class B, has romped to a pair of high-scoring victories while Class C Pawnee City opened with a 57-37 victory over Tecumseh last week.

Class A action tonight finds Beatrice, which claims two victories over AA teams, journeying to Marysville, Kan.; Nebraska City at Fairbury in a Trans-Nebraska affair, Falls City at Tecumseh, Omaha Holy Name at Tekamah, and Valentine at Stuart.

Other tilts tonight include Columbus St. Bonaventure at Blair, Blue Hill at Harvard, Oshkosh at Bridgeport, David City St. Mary's at Fremont St. Pat's, Superior at Deshler, Spalding Academy at Elba, Hebron at Friend, Loup City at Fullerton, Gibbon at Minden, Humboldt at Syracuse, Seward Concordia at Louisville, Milford at Ceresco, Wayne at Pierce, Wilber at Tobias, and Sterling at Wymore.

Archers' Deer Kill Now 142

Sixteen more deer kills by bow-and-arrow hunters have been reported to the State Game Commission, making this the best year to date for bowmen hunters.

Although the season does not end until Dec. 31, 142 archers have bagged deer for a success score of 12.5 per cent, compared with the previous all-time high of 12.2 per cent in 1957.

The newly reported successful archers include:

David McForbis, Central City; Harold Smith, Omaha, John Marsteller, Harrison; Kenneth Frazier, Decatur; Rod Jensen, Ogallala; Rex Osborn, Karr; George Blocker, Kearney; Daniel McMillan, Milburn; Ruby Miller, Hooper; John Holmes, Kearney; Jerry Miller, Orchard; Thomas Kendall, Grand Island; Maynard Baltz, Grand Island; Daniel Harvey, St. Paul; Joe Horn, Bayard, and Lee Nyffler, Columbus.

Bosox Trade Billy Klaus For Busby

Boston (AP)—The Red Sox Monday traded utility infielder Billy Klaus to the Baltimore Orioles for outfielder Jim Busby. Joe Cronin, Sox general manager, said it was a straight player swap, no cash involved.

Busby

Busby, a Kenedy, Tex., native who now lives in Leesburg, Fla., was in 112 games last season with the Orioles, batted .237, drove in 19 runs and hit 3 homers, one a grandslam. He will be 32 next month.

Klaus, a Sarasota, Fla., resident, hit .159 in 61 games last year. Klaus just turned 30. He is a native of Fox Lake, Ill.

Richards Quits

Los Angeles (AP)—Ray Richards, the Green Bay Packers' defensive coach, announced his retirement. The head coach of the Chicago Cardinals said he will enter private business here. He joined the Packers' staff last year.

Richards is a former University of Nebraska football star.

National Life Drops 1st Game

St. Edward handed National Life of Vermont its first loss, 68-64, and pushed the Nebraska AAU basketball league into a first place tie in the latest round of loop games. Life of Vermont and Stars of Storz now share the lead with 4-1 records.

Lincoln Air Force Base topped Omaha Travelers 75-71 to stay out of the basement in the only other game. The standings now show Life of Vermont and Stars of Storz at 4-1, St. Edward 3-2, LAFB 2-4 and Omaha 0-5.

Lincolnite Named Sioux City GM

Sioux City, Ia.—Al Christiansen has been named general manager of the Sioux City Soos in the Three-I League.

Christiansen, a native of Lincoln, Neb., was at Burlington, Ia., in the same league last summer and before that was assistant business manager of the Omaha Cardinals.

Argentina Champion Keeps Flyweight Title

Manila (AP)—Pascual Perez, the precision punching flyweight champion from Argentina, Monday night weathered the bull-like rushes of tough but crude Dommy Ursua of the Philippines to retain his title on a unanimous decision in 15 rounds.

A partisan crowd of 42,000, including president Carlos P. Garcia, his wife, and cabinet ministers, saw the rough battle in the Manila football stadium. Most fans appeared to agree with the verdict.

The Argentine champion backed away from wild swinging charges of Ursua and pumped his fists like pistons into the Filipino's face to pile up his victory on points.

Neither fighter was in danger, although Ursua twice momentarily shook up the champion, in the first and 13th rounds. Perez punched open a cut under Ursua's eye in the 5th round, but the 25-year-old challenger did not bleed thereafter.

There were no knockdowns. Referee Frankie Carter, imported from California, scored it 149-141 for Perez. Judge Rafael Torres had it 145-142, and Judge Sylva Sirois called it 146-142 for the champion.

The tough little Filipino, whose brawling tactics moved a Bangkok crowd to a fight-stopping riot last year, was warned repeatedly by Referee Carter for a series of infractions that ranged throughout the rule book.

Both fighters were visibly wilted by the 82-degree heat and the glaring ring lights but Perez, 7 years the elder, appeared the fresher.

Cards' Ivy Signs, Gets Long Pact

Chicago (AP) — Coach Frank Ivy, whose Chicago Cardinals won only two games this season, Monday signed a long-term contract with the club at a substantial increase in salary.

Managing director Walter Wolfner did not disclose figures but he said the contract was for a longer term than any ever given to a Card Coach. This would make it for more than two years.

"We think Ivy knows what he is doing and what he needs, and we'll do everything we can to see he gets it," said Wolfner. "He is an exceptionally fine coach and we have given him a free hand. We feel we are not too far away from a championship club."

The Cards lost their 6th straight game, 38-21, in Pittsburgh Saturday and ended the season with a 2-9-1 record.

Ivy played 6 years with the Cards, ending with the club's 1947 championship season.

Bender Got $25,000 For Teamster Cleanup

Washington (UPI)— Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Committee reported that former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) charged nearly $25,000 for directing the Teamsters Union's "cleanup commission" for about 3 months.

McClellan said Bender, who cleared the scandal-scarred union of corruption charges, got $15,750 in fees from the Teamsters at the rate of $250 a day. McClellan said the union also "dipped into its treasury" to pay certain Bender expenses, bringing the total to $24,800.58.

Bender, advised of McClellan's report, said he had made public the same figures himself. He said he "never worked harder under more trying circumstances" than as chairman of the 3-man cleanup group appointed by Teamster president James R. Hoffa last summer.

McClellan sent the payments data to Martin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the court-appointed board of monitors which is supervising Hoffa's administration of the Teamsters Union.

To Appeal

The senator noted that Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts ordered the board last week to continue its cleanup of the union despite Hoffa's efforts to depose the monitors. Hoffa said the union would appeal the Letts ruling.

McClellan, in his letter to O'Donoghue, said that Hoffa's appointment of the Bender commission was a duplication of effort making for "an additional burden on the funds of the Teamsters Union, which are derived from the members' dues."

He said the Senate committee's records showed that:

—Bender received $15,750 in fees from Aug. 18 to Nov. 14, 1958, charging the union $250 a day for 63 working days. McClellan said this was "only two fewer than the total number of working days in this period."

—The union paid Bender's personal secretary $3,000 in salary from Aug. 18 to Dec. 4.

—It paid $660.74 for extra clerical help in that period.

—The union paid $953 rent on Bender's office for the period, $763 in telephone and telegraph charges; $425 in postage, $659.08 for letter service, and $813.35 for airline transportation.

4 Explorers Rescued In Antarctica

Brussels, Belgium (Tuesday) (AP) — Four Belgian explorers missing in the icy Antarctic since their plane crashed 10 days ago were reported rescued Tuesday by a Soviet search plane.

The report came from Moscow Radio. A Tass dispatch telling of the rescue gave no details. Previously Moscow Radio said the Soviet pilot Viktor Perov had spotted footprints and equipment of the 4 men.

The Belgian Antarctic expedition headquarters said Monday night the men had reached to within 25 miles of a Belgian supply depot in an overland trek through crevasse-riddled, mountain terrain.

Perov radioed that he landed beside the Belgian party late Monday night and took off less than an hour later with all 4 men aboard.

The acting chief of Belgium's Antarctic station and the camp doctor accompanied Perov on the rescue flight but the pilot's message, as quoted by Moscow Radio, did not say whether any of the men were injured.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Decongestant Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

Russ Reject 1st Detailed West Blueprint On Test Ban System

Geneva (AP) — The United States handed Russia the first detailed western blueprint for a control system to police a nuclear test ban. Russian spokesman immediately described the plan as unacceptable.

This negative Russian reaction underlined the fact that—despite some progress on procedural matters — the 3-nation talks have thus far achieved no common ground on the fundamental issue of control.

U.S. Delegate James. J. Wadsworth submitted 4 draft articles for a proposed treaty on prohibition of nuclear weapons tests. The drafts were not made public but spelled out in precise detail how the control organization should function.

The articles provided for fixed control posts, manned by an international staff. The posts would be spread throughout the world to watch for secret nuclear tests in the atmosphere, underground or underwater.

On-The-Spot

Whenever the control posts report suspicious earth tremors which might be caused by underground tests, permanent inspection teams would be entitled to make an on-the-spot investigation.

Although the Russians have accepted the principle of a control system, their present ideas on how such a system would work are described by western delegates as inadequate. Under the Russian proposals, for example, the control posts would be manned almost entirely by nationals of the country in which they are located. Furthermore, the 7-member commission which is to be the organization's supreme authority would have complete supervision of the inspection teams—coupled with a big-power veto.

Eastern and western sources agree that the two sides' present positions are so far apart that none of the purely procedural agreement reached thus far could be considered as a pointer to early conclusion of a treaty. The conference is to go into a two week recess at the end of the week.

Another East - West arms control conference—this one on prevention of surprise attack—is floundering in total deadlock. The conference is to adjourn indefinitely this week.

First Sale

New York (AP) — The public Monday was able to buy voting common stock in the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. for the first time in the grocery chain's 99 years.

Common shares with voting rights were listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Heavy buying orders forced a delayed opening with the price at $59 a share. That was the high for the day.

Terminal Opens

Miami (UPI) — The new Miami International Airport terminal, designed to handle 7 million passengers annually in the jet age, and featuring a bar with automatic whisky dispensers, opened.

Although the huge terminal won't go into full operation until next month, 5 airlines were moved in and were ready for business.

Free Trees Given By Lumbermen

Five members of the Hoo-Hoo Club, an organization of Lincoln lumbermen, has distributed trees to local institutions for homeless and disabled children.

Trees from 6 to 10 feet high were left at Tabitha, Cedars, Whitehall, Orthopedic Hospital, St. Thomas and Malone Community Center.

Dick Schmidt, Joe Hile, Jerry McCracken, Fred Muscheites and Phil Runion, distributed the trees for the club, which has given trees for the past 3 years.

40 & 8 Gives High Award To O'Connell

Col. Frank B. O'Connell (ret.) was awarded a Distinguished service medal by the Lincoln 40 & 8 at their annual Christmas party.

O'Connell

Harry Ball, commander of the Lincoln post, presented the officer with his award for outstanding service as a legionnaire for over 40 years.

O'Connell served as the first commander of American Legion Post 3 in Lincoln, and as first department adjutant of Nebraska from 1919 until 1926. During this period the state department organized and ran a broadcasting station in Lincoln.

O'Connell's military service began in 1917 when he was a sergeant. From 1940 until 1947 he served as Nebraska director of the Selective Service. In 1947 he went to China where he served with a military advisory group to Chiang Kai-shek.

The officer recently retired with the permanent rank of colonel.

The 40 & 8 party was attended by more than 140. Chairman of the event was 40 & 8 commander, Harry Ball.

Guilty Cop

Spencer, Iowa (AP) — Police Chief R. A. Peterson saw citizen R. A. Peterson drive through a red light while on his way home for lunch.

Peterson wrote out a summons against himself, then appeared before Robert Patterson and pleaded guilty. He paid a $5 fine.

$50 Million Black Gold Deposit Pumped From State In 11 Months

By Jack Pollock

Sidney, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska produced more than $50 million worth of crude oil in the 11 months ending Nov. 30.

In the same period, drillers spent close to $3 million seeking new fields or developing old ones.

Thus, industry observers pointed out, the oil exploration and production business in Nebraska has become a multi-million dollar operation within a period of less than 10 years.

100 Million Yearly

Considering administrative payrolls, supply house sales and payrolls, lease payments and other expenditures which go into the complex business of finding and producing crude oil and natural gas, it is safe to assume that the oil industry is now spending close to $100 million dollars per in this state.

These figures do not include the tremendous tax bill which goes into the industry's cost of operation.

In the first 11 months of 1958, drillers gambled their money on 335 wildcat well attempts and managed to bring in only 39 discoveries. At the same time, 362 field wells were drilled, resulting in 1,954 new wells in established production areas.

Most of this activity centered in the Kimball-Banner-Cheyenne County region, but many other sections of the state shared in scattered drilling which has added new oil production to the picture since the year-end report a year ago.

Morrill County

Notable in western Nebraska has been the opening of some new fields in Morrill County. Of even greater importance to the state as a whole is the discovery of "deep sand" production in the general area of McCook.

Average daily oil production for the first 11 months of the year has ranged between 50,000 and 60,000 barrels. With the price of crude running close to $3 per barrel Nebraska producers have been marketing between $150,000 and $180,000 worth of crude daily.

Most of this oil is going into major pipe lines which carry it to eastern refining centers. However, there is considerable refining capacity in Wyoming and Colorado which is being fed by Denver-Julesburg Basin oil.

Exploratory Center

Center of Nebraska exploratory and development work for the past two years has been Kimball County. There was 26 drilling rigs in action in the Panhandle at the end of November, and most of them were punching holes into the Kimball County terrain. It has been the same story all through the year.

Services Tuesday For Don Mapes, Norfolk Attorney

Norfolk, Neb. (AP)—Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. for Donald D. Mapes, Norfolk attorney who died at Salina, Kan., Sunday after suffering a heart attack.

The service will be in Norfolk's First Congregational Church. Burial will be in Norfolk.

During and after World War II, Mapes was instrumental on behalf of the city of Norfolk and the Chamber of Commerce in obtaining airline service here.

Survivors include his widow, Bess; a brother, Andrew, a partner in the Mapes and Mapes law firm, and a sister, Mrs. Berniece Alford, a missionary in South Africa.

Plains To See Warming Trend

Snow is expected Tuesday over the upper Mississippi Valley, Lakes area and northern and central Appalachians, while rain mixed with snow will occur in the Northwest. It will continue cold over the East while a warming trend is expected over most of the Rockies and central Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Firm Asks Temporary Lincoln-McCook Route

. . . Hastings Bus Co. Files Papers

Hastings, Neb. (AP)—Yellow Diamond Lines, a Hastings bus company, filed application papers for authorization to operate buses between Lincoln and McCook on a temporary permit.

Harlan Richards, co-owner of the firm, said he felt the application papers sent by the State Railway Commission came as a direct result of a resolution passed last week by the South Platte United Chambers of Commerce, asking the commission to take immediate steps to restore bus service on U.S. 6.

The area between Lincoln and Denver over this route has been without bus service since July 1, when a strike halted operations of American Bus Lines, Inc., holder of the permanent permit.

Richards said a commission spokesman told him by telephone that a hearing on the application probably will be held this week in Hastings.

Yellow Diamond seeks to establish one round trip daily between Lincoln and McCook. The eastbound run would leave McCook at 8 a.m. and arrive in Lincoln at 1:30 p.m. The return trip would start from Lincoln at 4:30 and arrive in McCook at 10:30 p.m. Richards said the firm will be able to start the service the day following issuance of a temporary permit.

Death Of Omaha Man 'Accidental'

. . . Pathologist Says

Omaha (AP)—Acting Coroner George Sullivan said Monday a pathologist has reported he believed the death of a 42-year-old Jacques Daniel Van Brunt of Omaha was caused by a fall.

Van Brunt was found dead at the bottom of the basement stairs in his home Sunday morning.

An autopsy showed he died of multiple skull fractures.

Detectives who traced Van Brunt's movements, said he had been at a bar near his home between 7 and 9 p.m. About midnight 3 college students entered the bar and said there was an injured man at the loading dock at the rear.

'Beat Up'

Barney J. Fitzsimmons, a part time employe at the bar found Van Brunt in the rear with a bloody nose and a black eye and he said Van Brunt told him he had been "beat up." He refused to talk about his assailant, however. Van Brunt left the bar shortly after midnight, and police were unable to trace his movements farther.

Sullivan said he has made no decision on an inquest but the investigation will continue.

Brattie Named New Niobrara President

Ainsworth, Neb. (AP)—Dr. L. R. Brattie of Ainsworth has been named president of the Niobrara River Basin Development Assn.

The group at its meeting called for studies of further projects within the area's development program.

Woman Who Claims To Be Wife Of Hotel Magnate Taken To Trial

Omaha (UPI) — The self-proclaimed "widow" of hotel magnate Eugene C. Eppley was ordered removed from jurisdiction here to the southern district of California for trial on 6 counts of cashing in Interstate Commerce checks totaling more than $1,000.

Mrs. Harriet Harpster Miller, 40, was scheduled to be flown to Los Angeles, following an order issued by Federal District Judge Richard E. Robinson.

Robinson issued the order following receipt of a warrant from the federal district of California, where she was indicted on the charges by a federal grand jury. She agreed to the removal order.

The neatly dressed woman resented being called Harriet H. Miller on the warrant, however. She informed the court: "I am Mrs. Eugene Eppley. I am being charged as Harriet Miller. I am not Harriet Miller and have not been since June of this year."

AF 'Santa' Flies Winged Reindeer

Omaha (AP)—Maj. Hary A. Wakefield, Air Force liaison officer, played the role of the fellow with the long white whiskers in the second annual "Operation Santa Claus" of the Nebraska wing of the Civil Air Patrol.

He flew to several Nebraska cities, including Ord, O'Neill and Fremont, trading candy to children for old toys. The toys will be given to needy children Christmas.

23 New Cardinals Elevated By Pope

Vatican City (AP)—Pope John XXIII reinforced the College of Cardinals Monday with 23 new princes to help him bear the growing burdens of the Roman Catholic Church.

Archbishops Richard James Cushing of Boston and John F. O'Hara of Philadelphia were formally elevated to the purple along with 21 other prelates from 8 nations at a secret consistory.

All this group, named 4 weeks ago, waited elsewhere during the ritual that increased membership in the college to an historic high of 74 from the traditional maximum of 70.

The pontiff, who met in the Vatican's Consistory Hall with 23 of his 51 old cardinals, hinted that this senate of the church may become even larger.

Attacks China Reds

Addressing the assembled cardinals in Latin, he also chose the moment for a major attack on what he called the sorrowful and bitter spectacle of persecution of Catholics in Communist China. He cited attempts to divide the church. He said some who are "weak, wavering, frightened" have paved the way for a schism.

And he warned them to stand firm.

4 Year Sentence Is Given To Youth

Youth Enters Guilty Plea

Robbery Charged In 22-Hour Escapade

Omaha (AP) — Ronald Wayne Brewer, 19, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, pleaded guilty in District Court Monday to a robbery charge filed in connection with a weekend crime spree during which an Omaha woman was abducted and a couple held as hostages for 5 hours.

Deputy County Attorney William Ryan said the robbery charge stemmed from the taking of $28 at gunpoint from a woman at whose home Brewer gained entrance by a ruse.

Stole Weapons

Brewer's spree, touched off by a grocery store holdup in Council Bluffs, just across the river from Omaha, also included theft of an arsenal of weapons and stealing a car.

James E. Glynn, 18, also of Council Bluffs, was charged in municipal court in Council Bluffs with being an accessory in the grocery store holdup. He was ordered held for the grand jury under $3,000 bond.

Brewer was captured Saturday evening a few minutes after he had left the Raymond Bauer home, where he had held Mr. and Mrs. Bauer hostage for 5 hours.

Bauer, head of a Lincoln candy firm, talked Brewer into giving himself up and he was headed back downtown to meet his mother to whom he had telephoned when police intercepted him.

Dec. 29 Deadline

York, Neb. (AP) —Bids will be accepted until Dec. 29 on construction and remodeling of the York Country Club, Bill Laird, club president, announced.

Plans call for razing the burned-out club house and construction of an entirely new building on the prevailing basement. The old basement would be renovated and redecorated.

Dulles, De Gaulle Still Split

See Eye To Eye On Berlin Only

Paris (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and French Premier Charles de Gaulle failed Monday to sweep away underlying differences between France and the United States on the eve of important Atlantic pact conferences.

The two met for an hour and a half in de Gaulle's official residence. Guarded press statements after the meeting made it plain that while the meeting was cordial the two men saw eye-to-eye only on the Berlin crisis, the issue which is expected to overshadow all else at the NATO talks.

On Berlin, both reaffirmed the western position taken Sunday that Britain, France, and the United States would maintain their position and keep free access to the city despite threatening moves from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Dulles and the foreign ministers of all the North Atlantic Pact countries sit down Tuesday to consider the Berlin question and a wide range of defense problems, many of which involve France's position in the geographical heart of the alliance.

Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, the secretary-general for the North Atlantic Treaty Organzation Council, told a news conference during the day the Berlin question undoubtedly would dominate the talks.

Atom-Free Zone

But he said the conferees very likely would discuss the question of military disengagement in central Europe. This is the idea to pull troops back away from what might be an atom-free zone, an idea pushed hard by Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki of Poland, and often called the Rapacki plan.

After Monday's Dulles-de Gaulle talks, informed sources suggested the French were mixing politics with the West's defense needs in a diplomatic maneuver to bolster France's role in NATO.

An American spokesman said Dulles agreed to continue discussions on how to keep closer together on international problems but it seems clear that Dulles went no further toward satisfying France's demands for a greater role in NATO. Pressed for more details of the meeting a spokesman said:

"Neither of them wanted to release this much."

Kearney Man's Death Is Ruled As Accidental

Kearney, Neb. (AP) — Sheriff Lloyd Frank has ruled as accidental the death of Henry C. DeLaet, 65, found dead in his garage Sunday. Frank said DeLaet died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

DeLaet, who had been dead several days, was found in the garage behind his home by a son, Lynn. Frank said DeLaet had been repairing a tire on his car and had been using a manifold pump. He apparently inhaled the deadly fumes, Frank said.

Both Sides Unwilling To Budge

. . . Mediator Says

New York (AP) — The New York newspaper strike continued through its 6th day Monday, with the nation's top federal mediator groping vainly for a solution. Neither side seemed inclined to budge an inch.

"There is no factual basis for optimism," admitted Joseph F. Finnegan, national director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, in his first full day here from Washington.

He said both sides have "taken a stiff attitude."

Negotiations broke up in early evening, with new talks scheduled at 10 a.m. EST Tuesday.

Finnegan spent most of the day shuttling back and forth trying to get the publishers' representatives and the striking Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union to sit down to face-to-face talks. He succeeded late in the day, which led him to declare:

"They are still talking and while they are still talking there is hope."

But the joint talks were brief and unproductive. The overnight adjournment then was agreed on.

The city's newsstands have been bare of local papers since shortly after the strike began the night of Dec. 9. The 9 big New York dailies normally circulate 5½ million papers a day.

—EUROPE—

Trade Warfare Averted

Paris (Tuesday) (AP) — A threatened European trade war was averted at least by agreement among 17 nations to study British and French compromise plans.

Weary negotiators put off a final decision until Jan. 15. But a 6-nation European common market will go into effect as scheduled next Jan. 1.

The compromise plans were not made public in detail. Informants said the conferees agreed that the offer of the common market 6 to extend some of their economic measures to the remaining 11 members of the organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) will become effective with the new year.

Bitter Argument

The agreement climaxed talks that went on all day Monday and late into the night. Conferees said that at times they became bitter, with the French often deserted by their 5 common market partners.

The delegates from the 17 OEEC nations reached their uneasy truce and broke off talks just before midnight.

Earlier Britain had served notice on the other nations of possible economic reprisals against the 6-nation European common market group that makes up one bloc inside the OEEC unless the 6 agreed to broaden their organization to include the remaining 11 OEEC nations in a free trade area.

Membership in Phi Kappa Phi is limited to seniors who rank in the top 10% of their class scholastically.

City's Gas War In Full Swing

Gasoline prices in the Capital City's gas price war Monday night remained at the same level to which they were dropped 10 days ago.

Lincoln's independent service stations were selling regular at 22.9 cents per gallon. Premium was selling for 25.9.

Major brand dealers were asking 2 cents per gallon more for regular, while premium was going for 28.9.

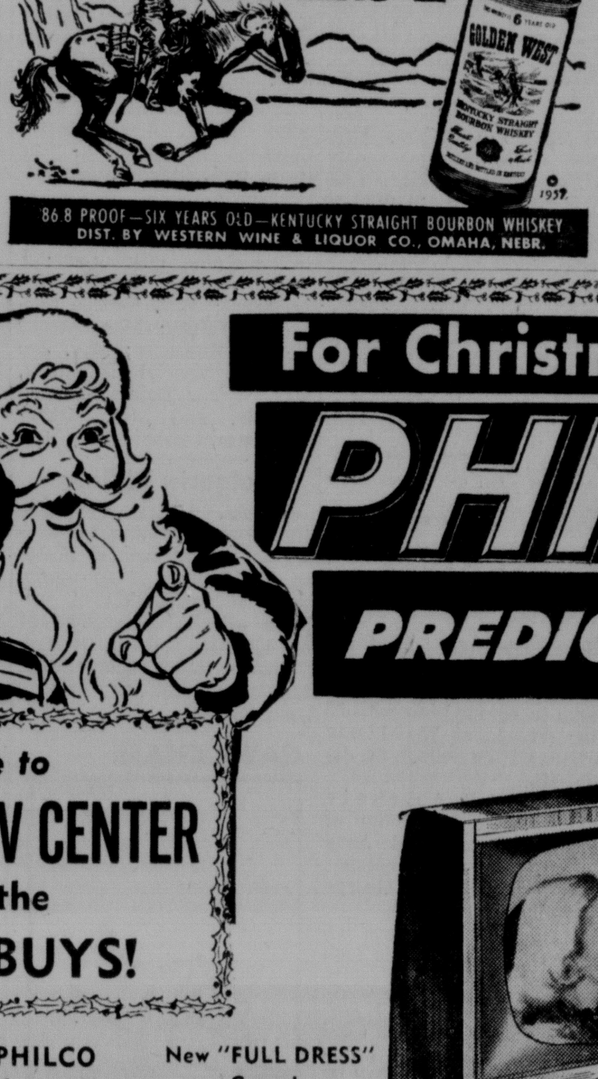

The gas price war is Lincoln's second within the last two months.

Stocks Show Active Trade

New York (AP) — The stock market carved out a moderate and irregular advance Monday in fairly active trading.

The key stocks which make up the averages showed more gains than losses and rose, generally, from fractions to a point or so. The so-called secondary issues made some wide moves, to the plus and minus side.

Among the 1,227 issues traded, it was virtually an even split with 487 gainers and 490 losers. There were 78 new highs for the year and 4 new lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 60 cents to $207.50 with the industrials up $1.20, the rails off 20 cents and the utilities up 20 cents to a new high for the year.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.71 to 563.96.

Volume expanded slightly to 3,340,000 shares from Friday's 3,140,000.

The averages were moving just below their record high after a scarcely broken nine-month advance. Yearend transactions such as tax-loss selling and switching tended to rob the market of a clearcut trend.

A generally higher tone was achieved by motors, electronics, aircrafts, electrical equipments and building materials. Steels, rails, oils and aircrafts were mixed. Drugs were off, some leaders rather sharply.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks rose, three fell and two were unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 1,520,000 shares compared with 1,380,000 Friday.

Corporate bonds were steady in moderately active trading.

Long-range U.S. government bonds declined in light dealings over the counter.

Corporate trading mounted to $6,890,000 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $5,080,000 Friday.

Corn Prices Are Lower

Chicago (AP)—Grain futures leaders clamped the pressure on corn and oats again Monday on the Board of Trade but took a friendlier attitude toward other grains and soybeans.

The heaviest selling again was in December corn with the setbacks running to more than a cent a bushel in both the old and new type contracts and extending the losses to well over two cents a bushel in the past two trading sessions.

At the same time cash dealers dropped their bids to five cents a bushel over the December future, taking four cents off the recent high of $1.22¼ paid last Wednesday.

Soybeans advanced for the second consecutive trading session although the gains were moderate.

Wheat closed ⅜-⅞ cent a bushel higher, December $.93½; corn ¼-1⅜ lower, December old type contract $1.13¼; oats ¼-¾ lower, December 65⅜; rye ¾-1 cent higher, December $1.30¾, and soybeans ¼-⅝ higher, January $2.16⅞.

CHICAGO

The butcher hog market was strong to 25 cents higher Monday on the smallest Monday supply since the middle of October.

The offerings of 10,000 head were 4,000 less than had been expected.

The practical top of $19.50 was paid fairly liberally for several lots of mostly No. 1 grade scaling 190-215 lbs but the extreme top was $19.75 for 37 head of 216 lb sorted No. 1s. The mixed 1-2 grades in the 200-225 lb range cleared at $18.50-19 and a few No. 3s at $18.25 while heavier kinds were upward from $16.25.

Sows were $13.75-16 and strong to mostly 25 cents higher.

The cattle supply of 25,000 head was 3,000 more than estimated over the weekend and prices of slaughter steers were mostly steady to 25 cents lower. However, offerings grading good and below and the choice and prime steers over 1,400 lbs were as much as 50 cents lower.

Buyers paid $28.50-29 for prime steers under 1,350 lbs and $26.75-28.25 for choice and prime under 1,300 lbs. Choice grades from 1,500 lbs down were $25 and good steers $24-27 for all weights.

Heifers were steady to 25 cents lower but other classes were mostly steady. Heifers grading choice and prime brought $28-28.25, the good and choice $25.75-27.75. Vealers were $32 and down and utility and commercial bulls $22.50-25.

Good and choice wooled slaughter lambs sold at $18.25-20 with prices weak to 50 lower. Shorn lambs were $18-18.50, ewes $6.7.50.

Prober Applies 'Weird' Tag To Knutson Case

. . . Lawyer Denies Signing 'Come Home' Idea

Washington (AP)—The "very weird case" of Coya and Andy Knutson produced testimony Monday that the original "Coya come home" letter was written by a man supporting her political opponent.

The "weird" tag was supplied by Rep. Clifford Davis (D-Tenn). He is chairman of a special House committee looking into the circumstances of Mrs. Knutson's defeat for re-election as a Democratic congresswoman in Minnesota.

Expert Heard

Davis commented after testimony by Charles A. Appel, a handwriting expert. Appel said a handwritten press release last May, purportedly a public plea from Knutson that his wife quit politics and come home, actually was written by Maurice O. Nelson, a lawyer at Fosston, Minn.

In Minnesota, Nelson denied this. He said he had nothing whatever to do with its preparation or publication.

Nelson was a supporter of Odin Langen, the Republican who defeated Mrs. Knutson. She charges that a malicious conspiracy knocked her out of Congress. She and her husband may testify Tuesday.

Appel, in qualifying as a handwriting expert, sad he is a former FBI agent who identified the ransom letters in the Lindbergh kidnap case in 1935.

Walter Surrey, attorney for Mrs. Knutson, told the committee that Knutson did not sign the handwritten release but did sign a typed copy later.

"He was trapped into it and never knew what was going on," Surrey said. He also said Knutson didn't know who had drawn up the press release.

EAL, Flight Engineers Open Talks

Miami (UPI) — Eastern Air Lines and its striking flight engineers began meeting with a federal mediator late Monday as the big air carrier's crippling strike entered its fourth week.

The engineers agreed to ask a third party to enter the dispute "to speed agreement on a new contract." An Eastern spokesman said the company "welcomed" the move as "a hopeful means of expediating settlement of the dispute."

This marks the first time since the strike began Nov 24 that the engineers have agreed to work with a mediator. However, the engineers have been holding closed-door meetings with company officials the past several days.

In a statement released late Monday, Ron Brown of the Flight Engineers International Association (FEIA), said: "Because recent meetings between FEIA, Eastern Air Lines chapter, and Eastern Airlines have produced very little progress toward settlement of the strike, the flight engineers have asked Warren Lane, mediator, to act as a third party in an effort to speed agreement on a new contract."

'World's Fastest' Jet Airliner Gets Public Unveiling

San Diego, Calif. (UPI) — The Convair 880, called by its builder the world's fastest jet airliner, was given its public unveiling Monday.

Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. said the sleek, gold-striped 4-engine aircraft would be capable of crossing the nation in 4½ hours. The test model was wheeled from its production line hanger before an estimated 5,000 guests.

Tests are expected to begin within 6 to 8 weeks. The 880 will be put into service in May, 1960, according to Trans World Airlines, the original purchaser of the aircraft. TWA has ordered 30 aircraft. Five other airlines also have ordered the plane.

A feature of the airliner is that it wil be capable of landing and taking off from most existing major airports.

J. V. Naish, president of Convair, said the medium range transport will have a cruising speed of 615 miles per hour, with a first line service flight of more than 20 years.

Liquor Bd. Decision Soon In Price Rule Controversy

The Nebraska Liquor Control Commission is expected to rule within 30 days on whether or not it will repeal or revise controversial Rule 46 which requires price posting by beer and liquor manufacturers, wholesalers and distributors, and governs price discounts.

The Commission held a hearing at the Statehouse Monday on the rule change which was attended by more than 100 beer and liquor representatives with the majority of testimony offered opposed to any change in the rule.

Sen. Terry Carpenter appeared in favor of repealing the rule stating it was being broken daily and was a form of trade restraint.

Wants Fair Trade

The Scottsbluff senator said the only way to solve the problem would be to establish a fair trade price on liquor products.

If the rule is not repealed, he said he would see that the 1959 Legislature enacts stringent rules for enforcing the regulation.

Omaha attorney Jack Marer, representing the Nebraska Wholesale Liquor Distributors Assn., also urged the Commission to repeal the rule which went into effect in 1952.

Less Price-Cutting

Lincoln attorney Jack Devoe, representing the Nebraska Beer Wholesalers Assn., argued against repealing or revising the rule stating that it had gone a long way in erasing price-cutting prevalent before the rule was invoked.

Lincoln attorney Frederick H. Wagener, representing the Lancaster County Retail Beer Dealers Assn., said the 45 retailers in Lancaster County oppose any rule change.

Wagener contended the proposed change would benefit only a "favored few among the larger operators," adding that if the rule remains the "small operators will not have to take orders from the big boys."

Charles Hoye, representing the Omaha Brewers, spoke in favor of keeping the rule as is, as did Bernard Boyle of Omaha, attorney representing the Omaha Beer and Liquor Retailers Assn.

Boyle said the industry needed helpful, cooperative and strict supervision. He agreed with Carpenter that a minimum price law could solve the problem, but urged that Rule 46 be retained until such a law could be enacted.

Others testifying in favor of the rule retention included Ben W. Crain of Omaha representing the Northeast Nebraska Liquor Retailers Assn., and James W. Holt of West Point, a liquor retailer.

Harry Moore, TV Kingfish, Is Dead

Los Angeles (UPI)—Harry (Tim) Moore, 70, the free-wheeling, fast-talking "Kingfish" of the Amos 'n Andy television series, is dead.

The Negro comedian died at General Hospital from an undisclosed ailment. He had been hospitalized on and off throughout the summer.

Survivors included his wife, Vivian, 39.

Moore made headlines last January when he became involved in a celebrated "roast beef" shooting in which he told police he fired several shots in his home because his relatives had done away a roast beef before he had a chance to eat any.

Wesleyan Plans Christmas Rites

Two deep-rooted seasonal traditions will bring Christmas holiday observances to an end on the Wesleyan University campus this week.

Wednesday night students will participate in a Noel Observance climaxed by Communion Services conducted by President Vance D. Rogers.

A torch-light parade on the campus perimeter will begin the Noel observance. Students will march from organized house to organized house, from dormitory to dormitory where residents will join the parade.

They will march to the front of "Old Main" where Mary Louise Holding of the department of music will lead in the singing of Christmas Carols and where the students will present their Christmas gift to President and Mrs. Rogers.

TRAIN RAMS SCHOOL BUS; 20 INJURED

Saginaw, Mich. (AP) — Witnesses watched in horror Monday as a freight train with brakes grinding bore down on 48 screaming children in a school bus stalled on a suburban Bridgeport crossing.

About half the youngsters got out before the 41-car train's big diesel engines, slowed to 6 miles an hour, smashed into the front of the bus, knocking it off the tracks.

Some 20 children were injured, including one who suffered a skull fracture. Most of the rest had minor cuts and bruises.

New Way To Total Hospital Beds OKd

Authorization to develop a new way of presenting total hospital bed facilities in an area of the state for the Nebraska hospital plan was given Monday by the State Board of Health.

Known as the Michigan plan, the method presents the total bed facilities in a given area by listing all the categories of beds such as general, tuberculosis, mental, nursing, etc., together.

Under past plans, which need revision annually to account for new construction during the previous year, the plan was a type which broke each type of bed in an area into a separate chapter in the printed plan.

The new plan will be submitted at a later date to the board for action.

Unified Picture

State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers explained the new method provides an unified and integrated picture of the state's needs and the present status of hospital beds available in the state.

Dr. Rogers said the plan has nothing to do with reducing the number of rural beds allocated to the state. Present authorization, he said, is 2½ beds per 1,000 persons in rural areas; 4 beds per 1,000 in intermediate areas (where at least one 100-bed hospital must be located) and 4½ beds per 1,000 persons in base or medical center areas.

Dr. Rogers said the current count of beds is about 3½ per 1,000 persons in base or medical center areas.

Dr. Rogers said the current count of beds is about 3½ for 1,000 for rural areas. That figure may be raised to 4 rural beds per 1,000 and the 4½ for medical center areas could be boosted to 5 or 5½.

Many Won't Qualify

This is possible, he said, because many areas will not be able to qualify under the law as an intermediate area since they lack at least one 100-bed facility.

In other action, the board approved the appointment of Robert K. Kirkman as director of the Bureau of Examining Boards replacing Husted K. Watson who resigned to move to Florida.

The resignation of Allan Johnson was accepted by the board. Johnson was associated with the Health Department laboratory in water pollution work.

1 Dead, 27 Hurt

Caracas, Venezuela (AP) — One man was reported killed and 27 wounded in rioting at El Consejo, 30 miles south west of Caracas.

Dispatches from that village said 17 persons were arrested in a fight set off when 500 persons attacked the police station with gunfire and home-made bombs. Reinforcements from nearby Maracay and La Victoria broke up the mob with tear gas bombs.

Not Libelous

Trenton, N.J. (AP) — The State Supreme Court ruled it's not necessarily libelous in New Jersey to call a person "un-American."

Calling a person a Communist is libelous, said the court in an unanimous decision, but the term "un-American" used as a result of short tempers in a political campaign, may not be. The court said a jury should decide.

Patrol Gets Sample Cars For Testing

State Purchasing Agent Tom Coffey turned over 6 new cars to the Nebraska Safety Patrol for testing Monday.

Coffey handed the cars over after opening bids submitted for the sale of 50 patrol cars to the state.

Low bids on the cars included: Chevrolet, $2,104; Ford, $2,018; Dodge, $2,207; Buick, $2,223; Edsel, $2,290; and Mercury, $2,344.

This was the first time in Coffey's memory that cars had been given the patrol for 2 or 3 weeks of rigid testing.

Coffey required bidders to supply sample cars for the testing, and purchase contracts will not be awarded until results of the tests have been studied by Coffey and Col. C. J. Sanders, Safety Patrol head.

Sanders said the tests will include actual patrol on state highways by selected troopers.

Vehicles will be tested for acceleration, roadability, riding comfort, braking, construction, instrument location and control operation.

Tests will include panic stops at 60 miles an hour to check for brake fade.

Braking also will be tested at 70 and 90 miles an hour.

The cars will be tested at the old Harvard Air base the first week of use.

Coffey said that although he had feared bids would be higher this year because of a decision by the Big 3 — Ford, General Motors, and Chrysler — not to permit concession prices on fleet purchases, sale prices offered were lower than expected.

He said he might accept bids on Studebakers and Ramblers for the dozen or so cars to be purchased this month for other state departments.

Solons Give Proposed Tax Bills Study

Proposed tax legislation to be submitted to the next Nebraska Legislature was being hammered out behind closed doors Monday.

State Sen. Terry Carpenter, chairman of the Legislative Council's tax study committee, met with committee members, attorney general's office and bill drafting representatives to draw up the proposed legislation.

Carpenter's committee, as the result of hearings on tax law violations, has recommended recodification of present tax laws.

Most senators responding to a recent Associated Press survey indicated they favor such strengthening and improving of present laws ahead of venture into new tax fields. Most senators also indicated they regard tax matters as the number one problem of the session.

The tax law writing job will continue Tuesday, Carpenter said.

Safety Program Organizers Set Jan. 12 Deadline

Leaders in organization of an accident prevention program for city and county set Jan. 12 as the goal for inviting local organizations to learn about and participate in the program.

Lester Jensen, chairman of the co-ordinating committee which is planning the project, said the group discussed ways to interest and inform the local organizations.

Discussed were an informational handbook detailing the facilities available for such a program, and compilation of program suggestions to present to the groups.

Jensen called the accident prevention program being formed the first to be set up on a community-wide basis as far as he knows. Jensen is health educator for the City-County Health Dept.
